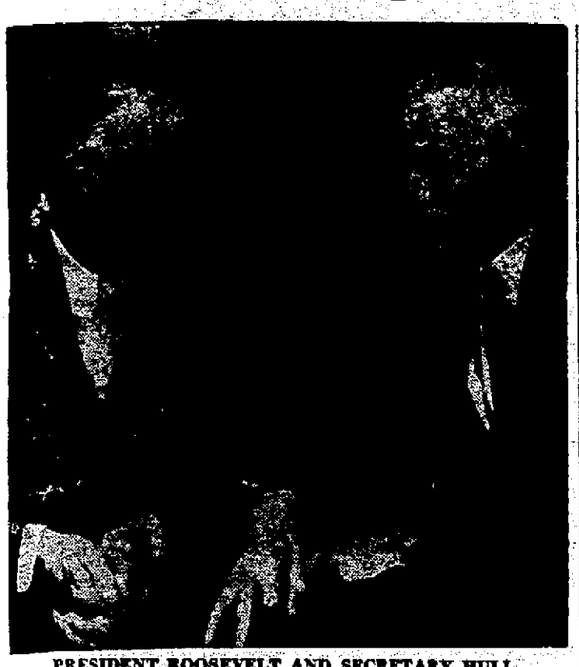
Opening Installment of the Cordell Hull Memoirs



PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND SECRETARY HULL
"Never an unfriendly word"

Hull Was Consulted On Domestic Policies And Often Disagreed

By CORDELL HULL

INSTALLMENT I

NEVER an unfriendly word passed between the President and me during my 12 years in the state department. Naturally a few emphatic differences rose between us, which we thrashed out earnestly and bluntly but in friendly spirit. Our association in general was very agreeable.

The President respected the proviso I made in accepting his offer to become secretary of state, namely that I would not be a mere transmitter and receiver of messages to and from foreign governments, that I would have my full share in formulating and carrying out foreign policy.

He and I entertained in most respects the same philosophy in international relations. In case of sudden developments when we were separated, either of us could usually know what the other's action would be. This likemindedness in foreign policy was a major factor in our effective working relations.

Foreign Affairs the Main Topic

In these memoirs I shall write primarily about the conduct of foreign policy by this government. I shall not include any account of the domestic achievements of the Roosevelt administration of which the President was the chief architect. The record of the panic to which Roosevelt's administration fell heir and of the remedies prescribed under his leadership, vast reforms without precedent as to magnitude and importance, will alone give him a high and lasting place in the history of our domestic affairs. Nor shall I undertake to write about the President's achievements as commander-in-chief of our armed forces during the recent World war except in those instances wherein there was a combined foreign and military policy. Here again his outstanding accomplishments mark him as one of the ablest commanders-in-chief in our history. All in all he was a truly great president.

During my tenure in the state department I found that in the majority of cases I had to make my own decisions. Although a secretary of state confers with the President on important matters of policy and is the President's agent in the field of foreign relations, in practice he acts largely on his own initiative and responsibility. I could issue instructions to American representatives abroad, demand explanations from foreign representatives here, dispatch diplomatic notes to foreign governments, and negotiate treaties with such governments.

I had to use my own judgment as to whether given policies or developments were important enough to bring to the President's notice. Sometimes I would lay before the President, with suitable recommendations, a question involving new policy. At other times a question of policy was not important enough to be brought to his attention, or it fell sufficiently within the lines of a general policy or a well-defined philosophy on which he already entertained a favorable attitude.

TO ILLUSTRATE, I recommended the moral embargo during the Italo-Ethiopia war, having Italy particularly in mind. The President was then on a cruiser off the Mexican coast. I told him we proposed to announce the embargo in his name, if agreeable to him, and he readily consented.

Another illustration is the effort we made at the Montevideo Pan American Conference to settle the Chaco war. I treated this as a part of the conference's proceedings to promote peace, and took the appropriate decisions. I kept the President informed in a general way of what we were doing.

Still another instance is my conduct of the negotiations with Great Britain for the lease of British bases, from Newfoundland to British Guiana, in exchange for 50 American overage destroyers. The President and I talked this over and reached a general understanding. He then turned over to me the task of conducting the negotiations with Britain. This I did for 10 solid days, keeping the President informed from time to time as to the status of our discussions. When they were concluded, I was to assume the responsibility of signing my name for our Government. This also included responsibility for an exchange of cables with Winston Churchill in which he made an official pledge that the British Navy would not in any circumstances be allowed to fall into German hands or be scuttled.

A final example, among many others, is the negotiations with the Japanese ambassadar in the nine months before Pearl Harbor. I conducted some 40 to 50 conferences with the ambassador, mainly at my hotel apartment. I kept the President informed as to the general tenor of the discussions, and at the same time prepared the data for conferences between the President and the ambassador, which I arranged.

NEITHER THE PRESIDENT nor I had had any too much experience in handling the technical side of foreign affairs. We gathered this experience quickly because of the multitude of problems that faced us at once. The great task largely devolving upon me, of implementing our policies and applying fundamental principles to the hopelessly complicated situations abroad imperatively calling for solution, was rendered all the heavier in the early years by the indescribable chaos in the domestic situation which required the daily attention of the President to an unusual extent.

During his first term in office President Roosevelt was so immersed in an avalanche of domestic questions that he left me almost full charge of foreign

TAFT BACKERS SEEK EARLIER STASSEN TEST

Decide on Nebraska Vote After Ex-Governor Enters Ohio Primary.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—The decision of Harold E. Stassen to take on Senator Robert A. Taft in the Ohioan's home state in the May 4 primary to choose national convention delegates found Taft supporters ready today to force an even earlier test of sentiment for the Republican presidential nomination.

They disclosed plans to make an all-out race in Taft's behalf in the April 13 Nebraska free-for-all primary. That test comes three weeks ahead of the Ohio balloting which Stassen announced he will enter.

Taft himself was silent on the Nebraska development, but he left no doubt he welcomes the competition on his own grounds where, he insists, Stassen "has no chance for success."

The former Minnesota governor said in his weekend announcement he has a high regard for Taft and would have preferred the test to come in some other state.

Wants Test of Policies

"But," Stassen added, "the differences between us on both foreign and domestic policy represent the major issues within the Republican party and before the country. It is important that the people have an opportunity to express their views upon these policies prior to the national convention next June."

In saying Ohio appears to afford the only opportunity for such a test, Stassen apparently had in mind that just about everybody who amounts to anything in the G.O.P. presidential contest is likely to find his name on the Nebraska preferential ballot.

This is the result of a campaign to get all of the announced aspirants, as well as such potential dark horses as Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Gen.

COUNTY LISTS GAIN IN HOME BUILDING

Report Shows 118 Units Begun in 10 Months of '47.

Special to The Star

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—During the first 10 months of 1947, 118 dwelling units were started in Marion county, Ohio, according to a report released today by the Chicago regional office of the bureau of labor statistics, U. S. department of labor. The survey covers permanent and privately-financed construction of homes.

The 1947 starts represented an increase of 40.5 per cent over the same 10-month period a year ago when 84 dwelling units had started.

This is the final regular release of a series showing progress of housing activity in Marion county. The series was begun in the spring of 1946 to provide information to be used locally and to assist the construction industry and the various agencies dealing with home building. This locality is one of a group of representative areas throughout the nation which was being surveyed in cooperation with local permit-issuing offices and building contractors. The program is now being discontinued due to exhaustion of the funds budgeted for this purpose.

Closed Street Hours Are Set for Coasters

Hours when Marion children may use State street and Chestnut street hills for coasting today will be 4 p. m. until 10, Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher announced. These streets will be closed to traffic during those hours, and park drives will be barricaded to traffic following school hours, he stated, so that children may take advantage of the drives for sledding. State and Chestnut streets and Lincoln park drives were barricaded Saturday and Sunday from 2 p. m. until 10, and it was reported that many children turned out for coasting, with State street by far the most popular spot for the sport.

Britain Will Maintain Value Of Pound Despite French Action

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 26—Sir Stafford Cripps declared today Britain does not contemplate devaluing the pound despite French action in cutting the value of the franc.

"We do not believe that this will be rendered necessary or advisable," the chancellor of the exchequer advised the house of commons. Earlier government securities had dipped on the stock exchange, reflecting investors' fears that France's action will damage the pound sterling.

France had overridden objections of both Britain and the International Monetary Fund in revaluing her money. The devaluation gave French manufacturers a chance to cut their prices as much as one-half in world markets and consequently threatened British markets abroad.

Sir Stafford did not disclose what steps would be taken to protect the pound.

Aid to Exporters

Consultations are continuing with the French, he disclosed.

The devaluation amounts to about 44 per cent for French exporters. They now will get many more francs for their dollars than they have been getting.

Up to midnight, the franc was officially quoted at 119 to $1. The new rate is 214 to $1, but exporters will be able to realize even more than that. They will trade half their dollars at the 214-1 rate, and the other half at a newly created free market, currently around 337 francs to the dollar.

Investors rushed to "get into gold." The demand forced up the prices of South African gold shares. These shares also opened strong on the Capetown market, indicating a belief that, sooner or later, the pound must be cheaper. It is now officially worth $4.02, but has sold down to $2.50 in uncontrolled markets.

Values Depreciate

London newspapers, reporting the pound in jeopardy, said the break in government bonds wiped out millions of pounds in market values. Market sources attributed this break to lack of demand rather than general liquidation. There was a sell-off, however, in the early trading.

Most other sections of the London market were quiet. Industrials were about steady. Base metals and commodities were fully firm.

Any lowering of the pound's value would mean that Britain would have to put up more pounds for purchases abroad. That would imperil the Labor government's entire recovery program. It sought vainly last week to have France temper devaluation.

6 INJURED AS TRAIN DERAILS

Last Car of Erie Express Jumps Track in New York.

By The Associated Press

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 26—Six persons were injured, none critically, when the last car of the Erie railroad's Chicago to New York City express jumped the tracks, struck two freight cars and overturned last night about 12 miles west of here.

M. J. McFadden of Meadville, Pa., trainmaster of the road's Meadville division, said early today a preliminary investigation led him to believe the accident was caused by a burned journal.

The derailed car, a pullman carrying 16 persons, tore tracks and ties for a half mile before striking an empty gondola on a "cripple track" to the right of the eastbound tracks and continued 100 yards to crash into an empty boxcar, also on the side track.

Both the gondola and the boxcar were sheared from their trucks and overturned. The pullman veered and came to a halt on its side on the westbound tracks.

Treated at Womens Christian hospital here were:

Mrs. Cleutus M. Westlake, 52, of Ashland, O., fractured rib.

Miss Katherine I. Noble, 43, of Ashland, O., leg cuts.

George A. W. Achenbach, 66, of Cleveland, a retired Erie railroad secretary, lacerated forehead, injured left thigh, rib and internal injuries.

Mrs. Ethel K. Howard, 54, of Cuyahoga Falls, O., lacerated ear and right hand.

Miss Elizabeth M. Kearney, 65,

AUTO REGISTRAR'S OFFICE GOING TO NEW LOCATION

W. C. Bailey, Marion registrar of motor vehicles, announced today that the license bureau office will be moved to a new location at 131 North State street at the close of this week.

The bureau will function at its present location, 264 North Main street, until closing Saturday noon, Jan. 31, and will be open for business Feb. 2 at the new address.

Average New House Now Costs $9,060

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—The selling price of the "average new house" reached $9,060 last November—more than double the price of $4,440 in 1939, a commerce department report said today.

The department earlier had predicted that construction costs will be at least "moderately" higher this year.

While the selling price of the average house rose 104 per cent between 1939 and November, 1947, costs of lumber increased 183 per cent, said the report.

Sec. Krug Outlines $9 Billion Synthetic Gasoline Program

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—A $9,000,000,000 outlay over the next five to ten years to produce synthetic oil and gasoline on a commercial basis was proposed to congress today by Secretary of the Interior Krug.

With winter-accentuated petroleum shortages sharpening his words, Krug said in a formal report:

"It is clear now that the United States cannot rely exclusively on petroleum to supply all future requirements for liquid fuels and related products."

The nation, he commented, already "is squeezed between increasing demand and decreasing productive capacity." And if the international trend toward mechanized economies continues "the proportion of the world's oil available to the United States may diminish markedly," he said.

But setting up a synthetic fuel industry, Krug said, "by the time large oil operations had regained the ground they lost during the war, we would be well prepared under emergency or war conditions."

[illegible] Outlay Needed

The cabinet officer's report said that to produce roughly 2,500,000 barrels of oil a day, which is less than 20 per cent of this country's present daily consumption, would require about 14,000,000 tons of steel and the construction of around 75,000,000 [illegible].

Discussing the program, he said [illegible] the suggestion of the synthetic rubber program developed during the war, Krug added:

"It should be understood now that when the country is at peace and completed over a period of 5 to 10 years."

Krug made his proposal on the heels of a lengthy report outlining what already has been accomplished in the field of synthetic fuel research.

City Clean-Up Campaign Set By Harding High Student Group

A clean-up campaign for the city of Marion is to be launched a week from today by the Marion club of the Future Retailers of Ohio, which is made up of students of Harding High school who are enrolled in the school's distributive education course. The campaign is to get under way Monday, Feb. 2.

"Help make Marion a cleaner city in which to live, visit and shop" is the slogan adopted by the club for use in the clean-up campaign.

Frank E. Hall, a senior at Harding has been chosen general chairman of the campaign. Working under him will be several committees who will patrol the streets each morning and then report on the success of the campaign.

Miss Murl Frye coordinator of Distributive Education, is the advisor of the club.

One of the main objectives is to have the merchants of the downtown area in the future sweep the dirt from their stores and the sidewalks in front of their stores into containers instead of into the street. The campaign chairman said today. Some merchants do use the container plan, but very few have been seen to put the sweepings into any type of receptacle, he reported.

The students of the class who have kept a look-out in the downtown area in leading up to the campaign have reported that some merchants don't even sweep their sidewalks. The dirt, which gathers in the streets and on the sidewalks, not only makes a bad appearance for the store but for the whole city as well.

Members of the club on the opening day of the campaign will contact the merchants in the main shopping district personally, seeking their cooperation, chairman Hall said.

Another of the campaign's objectives is to have the citizens use the refuse containers which have been placed at intervals on the main streets in the downtown area.

Club members say it is their hope that the cooperation of both citizens and merchants can be secured to make Marion one of the cleanest cities in Ohio.

PLEASANT INSTITUTE SET FOR THIS WEEK

Speakers and School Pupils on Farm Program.

Plans have been completed for the annual Farmers' Institute to be held at the Pleasant township school Wednesday and Thursday. Speakers will be Mrs. Byron Grimes of Delaware, Asa C. Mattern of Leipsic and Miss Mary Faye McMillen, county home demonstration agent.

Awards will be made in the various exhibits of farm produce and home economics. In addition to the speakers pupils of the school will present musical numbers and on Thursday night there will be a three-act play, "Where Is Grandma?" sponsored by the Pleasant Homemakers club, Pleasant Farm and Shop group and the Young Farmers association. There will be music between the acts.

The institute will open Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, the afternoon program at 2 and the evening session at 8. The hours Thursday will be 10:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. There will be a business session during the Thursday afternoon session.

GOP EXPECTS TO PASS TAX CUT BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26— Republican leaders said today they expect to whip their $6,300,000,000 tax cutting bill to house passage with "substantial" Democratic help and the loss of no more than three GOP votes.

Even so, however, some of them look for the house to fail on the first test to roll up the two to one margin needed to enact legislation over a presidential veto.

Before any balloting begins in the house, the ways and means committee has to do some preliminary voting to get the bill to the floor for debate. Committee members were rounded up to start the showdown today.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), author of the bill, predicted to a reporter it will be approved "as is," perhaps late today or maybe tomorrow.

Debate is slated to get underway in the house Thursday and a vote is ticketed for next Monday.

Both the Republican and Democratic leaderships were in agreement that the vote on passage will not reach two-thirds proportions.

New Furnace Takes Heat from Ground By Refrigeration

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26 — An electric "heat pump" designed to heat a seven-room house in the winter by extracting heat from the earth or from ordinary tap water went on public display for the first time today at the fifth annual refrigeration and air conditioning exposition.

The machine, scarcely larger than a home refrigerator, was built by the General Engineering & Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis. Two other units are in use in Philadelphia on a test basis, and James Lamb, company service manager, said line production would start this spring. The estimated selling price of the machine was not given.

While on display here the heat pump will draw heat from ordinary tap water, although when installed in the basement of a house the heat would be drawn from the ground through tubing buried five to 15 feet below the surface, Lamb said.

He explained that the earth temperature in Cleveland, only a few feet down, stayed at about 52 degrees and the machine extracted this heat, boosted it by compression and released it in the same way a refrigerator draws heat from the food compartment and releases it outside the box.

In summer, Lamb said, the machine could be reversed to pump heat from the home and "dissipate" it into the earth or the outside air.

Other new equipment among 5,000 pieces on display for an estimated 20,000 visitors included insulating materials for temperatures down to 300 degrees below zero and refrigerant chemicals that boil at 41 degrees below zero.

CONGRESSMAN ILL ON SHIP AT SEA

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), stricken seriously ill at sea, was being rushed to Cristobal, Panama, today aboard the SS Ancon.

An army bomber dropped two kits of blood plasma alongside the ship last night but Capt. David Swinson, the master, radioed the plane crew it was decided not to stop the ship to pick it up. Bad weather already had delayed the ship.

The plane was ready to take off again today from Balboa, Canal Zone, if plasma still was needed.

Dispatches from the Panama Line steamer said the ship's doctor tentatively had diagnosed the 52-year-old congressman's illness as "massive gastrointestinal hemorrhage," or bleeding in the stomach.

Thomas, chairman of the house un-American activities committee, left here Wednesday with Mrs. Thomas. While he did not announce the purpose of his trip, there has been discussion in Washington of alleged subversive activities in the Canal Zone.

WHERE QUAKE ROCKED PHILIPPINES. Black areas are five Philippine islands, Panay, Ceby, Negros, Leyte and Marinduque, which were rocked by earthquake shocks in four terrifying hours. Panay apparently was hardest hit with most of dead reported in Iloilo (arrow), port city of 125,000 and Panay's capital.

again are running pell mell into the streets . . . a woman hysterically screams as she leads her child: 'More are coming! Oh, mother of God, could this be the end'?"

One Australian, James Hoffman, 61, employe of a stevedoring company, and one unidentified American were reported among the dead.

Five Islands Shaken

Panay, Negros, Cebu, Leyte and Marinduque islands all were jolted, but Panay on the basis on early reports seemed hardest hit. Iloilo City, a port of 125,000 population, noted for sugar, rum and copra exports, is 285 airline miles southeast of Manila.

The public works department in Manila said estimates of damage were incomplete but would certainly exceed $500,000—mostly in areas devastated by a Christmas typhoon which caused 91 casualities, one-third of them on the Danish motorship, Kina.

Falling debris from major buildings caused most of the casualties. One man died as he knelt in prayer in a church in Alimodian; an Iloilo suburb; and an American and four Filipinos were reported crushed by falling walls on a downtown street. Four men were buried in the collapse of a six-story cathedral belfry three centuries old, but rescuers dug them out alive after five hours' frantic work.

3,500 ATTEND OHIO PASTORS' MEETING

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26—An estimated 3,500 clergymen from 10 Protestant denominations were in attendance today for the opening of the twenty-ninth Ohio Pastors' Association convention in Memorial hall.

The four-day meeting, centering on the theme, "What Protestants Believe, and Why," was called into session by Rev. Harold Cooke Phillips of Cleveland, convention chairman.

Denominational luncheons were held at noon by the Church of the Brethren, Evangelical United Brethren, Friends, Congregational-Christian and Evangelical Reformed, Church of God, Presbyterian, Methodist, Disciples, Baptist and Protestant Episcopal.

Dr. Harold A. Bosley, dean of the Duke university divinity school, and Dr. E. G Homrighausen, of the Princeton divinity school, were on the afternoon speaking program.

Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas, a leading lay figure, and the Rev. Dr. Sam Higginbottom, missionary to India for 45 years, were to talk tonight.

Other outstanding clergymen, educators and missionaries will speak during the remaining three days of the convention. They include Dr. C. Johnson, pastor of Third Baptist church, St. Louis, and president of the Baptist World Alliance; Dr. Sherwood Eddy, for 57 years missionary to European countries; and Dr. Halford E. Luccock, of the Yale University divinity school.

Resolutions will be considered on topics ranging from universal military training to the Taft-Hartley law.

Truman Names Bradley To Succeed Eisenhower

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—President Truman today formally nominated Gen. Omar Bradley as Army chief of staff to succeed Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

He sent the nomination to the senate which must approve it before Bradley can take the Army's top spot.

The White House did not specify the date on which Bradley will take over the duties. The nomination was made effective simply on the date of his being sworn in.

There have been reports that Eisenhower wanted to leave about Feb. 15.

Pennsylvania Woman Marks 110th Birthday

By The Associated Press

WAPWALLOPEN, Pa., Jan. 26—God willed it, said Mrs. Mary O'Neill today, as she celebrated her one hundred and tenth birthday.

This English-born immigrant, frail and small but with a twinkle still in her dimming eyes, is one woman not ashamed to admit she's the oldest person in Pennsylvania—and state medical society records back her up.

Neighbors and well-wishing friends trudged last night through a foot of snow and braved the treacherous, icy footing of a mountain trail to say "happy birthday" to Mrs. O'Neill in her oil-lit home.

Boy Killed by Pistol Believed Unloaded

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Jan. 26 — Coroner Harry E. Lewis returned a verdict of accidental death today in the fatal shooting of nine-year-old William Carl Walter who died yesterday in Memorial hospital.

Coroner Lewis said the boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Walter of near Lima, was wounded in the chest Saturday when an older brother discharged a .22 pistol he believed was unloaded.

Deadline on Farm Crop Reports Near

All farmers participating in the Marion County Agricultural and Conservation association program have been notified to report compliance with the 1947 program not later than Jan. 30 to receive crop payments for the year, Frank Montgomery, association chairman, reported today.

Mr. Montgomery stated that as these benefits are granted under government provisions that any one who has not filed by the Jan. 30 deadline will not receive payment.

For those who have not reported compliance the association offices will be open daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. at 220 East Church street, he said.

CATHOLIC LEADER ANSWERS CRITICS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 — A Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. John T. McNicholas, today denounced a recent manifesto by a group of Protestant churchmen and educators as an "untrue and most unjust attack" on the church and its bishops.

The document issued by the group calling itself Protestants and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, declared:

"A powerful church, unaccustomed in its own history and tradition to the American ideal of separation of church and state * * * has committed itself * * * by positive acts to a policy plainly subversive of religious liberty as guaranteed by the constitution.

The manifesto added one of the "long range purposes of this church is to secure total support for its extensive system of parochial schools from the public treasury."

Archbishop McNicholas, of Cincinnati, said in his rebuttal statement:

"We deny absolutely and without any qualification that the Catholic Bishops of the United States are seeking a union of church and state by any endeavors whatsoever * * *"

As to the question of public aid for parochial schools, the archbishop commented:

"Despite the dogmatic assertions of the signers of the manifesto, there is no authoritative interpretation of the first amendment, declaring unconstitutional federal aid for children attending other than tax-supported schools."

Truman Urges U. S. To Prepare for Peace

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—President Truman said today national preparedness means preparedness for peace and not for war.

Mr. Truman indorsed plans of the Reserve Officers Association for National Security Week, Feb. 12-22, and expressed the hope the program can be observed in every state and community.

"In these times, the inclusion of all our people in the study of the things which must be done to guarantee our national security is very important," the President said in a letter to Brig. Gen. E. A. Evans, executive director of the association.

Predicts "Spectacular" Commodity Disclosures

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—The congressional hunt for any commodity gamblers among government "insiders" went forward on two fronts today with a prediction from Rep. August H. Andresen that "spectacular" disclosures are near.

Andresen heads a special house committee which has been working under wraps while a similar senate group has held a series of explosive sessions centering chiefly around charges by Harold E. Stassen directed at Edwin W. Pauley.

MARCH OF DIMES TOTAL NOW $2,281

More Than Double Last Year's Half-Way Mark.

The 1948 March of Dimes of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis swings into its final week today with $2,281.98 contributed by Marion city and county residents. Collections over the weekend totaled $275.29, firemen at the Central fire station, headquarters for the contributions, report. Today's report more than doubles the amount reported at the half-way mark last year, the figures show.

However, Virgil F. Dye, Marion County chairman for the drive, pointed out today, a race is not won at the half way mark, it is the homestretch that counts. He, with the firemen, whose job it is to receive the contributions, hope that all coin packets, mailed before the opening of the campaign Jan. 15, will be returned this week in order to close the drive at the deadline, Jan. 30.

Today's figures represent the contributions made in the packets, from the coin boxes, theater and bus collections. Boy Scouts, who are cooperating in the campaign by accepting contributions from bus passengers, have turned in $94.08 in their four days of work, the firemen state. While they are expected only to work during the evening, the Scouts have volunteered many more hours of service. They reported at Scout headquarters at 9 a. m. Saturday and ended their work around 7:30 p. m. Their schedule did not call for Sunday work but volunteers on the job netted $13 in yesterday's contributions.

Members of the Altrusa and Business and Professional Women's clubs are volunteering their services at the local theaters to receive contributions for the worthwhile project.

COAST GUARD HUNTS 4 ON MISSING PLANE

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—Patrol planes were ordered out again at dawn today to resume the search for a twin-engine Coast Guard plane that disappeared in a driving snowstorm Saturday with four crewmen aboad.

Army, Navy and Coast Guard craft swept over the area between Washington and Newark, N J., from dawn to dark yesterday without finding a trace of the missing plane, a Lockheed Lodestar sometimes used by Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder.

Officials clung to the hope that it had been able to put down in some remote field, but there were fears it had crashed in some mountainous region or into the Chesapeake bay.

The Coast Guard listed those aboard as:

Lt. Cmdr. Charles W. Schun, pilot, South Arlington, Va., an aide to Snyder.

Lt. (J.G.) William N. Killebrew, co-pilot, Washington, D. C.

Charles H. McArthur, aviation machinist's mate first class, Washington, D. C.

Rudolph H. Schoning, aviation radioman first class, Temple, Pa.

Volcano Erupts On Island in Galapagos

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26—A 5,000-foot volcano on the north end of Isabella, largest of the Galapagos island group, erupted in mid-morning Saturday with a miniature Bikini-like smoke mushroom, radio advices received here said today. The Galapagos are 700 miles west of Ecuador.

The eruption was continuing undiminished, reported Frank Adams, radio operator aboard the San Diego, Calif, tuna clipper. Endeavor, anchored nearby at A-1 Albermarle reef.

Adams said daytime observation was restricted by smoke and haze but that flaming lava flowing eastwardly outlined the whole mountainside after dark. He said the last confirmed eruption of the unnamed volcano was believed to be in 1925.

Cook Inlet is the largest bay on Alaska's Pacific coast.

TATTOOED GANGSTER. Police in France have no difficulty in identifying Bellange, one of Paris' better known gangsters. Tattooed on his throat are stars and on his forehead the phrase "PAS DE CHANCE" which means "no luck." AFL TO PLUNGE INTO NATIONAL POLITICS

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26—The AFL leadership assembled today to take the deepest plunge into national politics it ever has attempted, with repeal of the Taft-Hartley act as its prime announced objective.

The 15-man executive council went into mid-winter session, to be climaxed Feb. 4 with a meeting of the federation's full-dress political strategy group of 30 members.

President William Green, who hopes to raise $8,000,000 in voluntary contributions from federation members to finance the AFL's political activities, says the newly-formed "Labor's Political Education League" may even go so far as to endorse a presidential candidate this time.

In other years the AFL has scarcely dipped its toes in the swirling current of a presidential contest. Principally, however, the AFL and CIO both will concentrate on congress.

The CIO executive board last week opposed the third party bid of Henry A. Wallace for president, and the action was seconded by the executive board of the CIO-Political Action Committee.

The AFL council may decide to hold off a declaration on the third party until its Feb. 4 meeting, in the opinion of some members.

Chicago Threatened With Teacher Strike

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—A teacher strike threat hung over the city council's finance committee in its scheduled meeting today on approval of a record $97,972,000 public school tax levy for 1948.

The committee deferred action on the school budget in a meeting Thursday with the result that the board of education was unable to issue salary checks to the 14,000 teachers and 9,000 other employes for the two week period ended Jan. 16.

In postponing action on the budget, the committee summoned school board officials and Supt. Herold C. Hunt to explain salary increases of up to 8½ per cent, provided in the new levy.

More than 1,000 teachers already have voted to strike if the levy is not approved at today's session.

TRUCK DRIVER DIES IN TIRO COLLISION

Massachusetts Man Killed in Collision with Train.

Vila Burnell of Pittsfield, Mass., was killed Sunday at 1:30 p. m. in a train-truck collision at Tiro in Crawford county, the state highway patrol reported today.

An All State Transit truck driven by Mr. Burnell, and a Pennsylvania freight train collided at a railroad crossing on route 98 about 18 miles northeast of Bucyrus. It is thought the truck skidded into the train, the patrol reported.

Mr. Burnell's body was taken to Lanias Funeral Home in New Washington.

According to an Associated Press report from Shelby Brunell was burned to death when he was trapped in the cab of his truck.

Woman Dies as Flash Blaze Sweeps Room

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26—Mrs. Jessie Green, 65, was burned to death early today in a fire that flashed through a room she and her husband occupied in a private home here.

Her husband, Floyd, 65, was burned critically.

Battalion Fire Chief Joseph Castle said the fire did little damage. Its origin was not determined immediately.

ALLOCATION PLANS DIM STEEL PICTURE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 25—The government's program of voluntary steel allocation has obscured the outlook in the commodity's already uncertain market, the magazine Steel reported today.

"... until more is known as to how it will operate, who will be affected and to what extent volume for the run-of-mine buyer will be curtailed, if at all, there is bound to be a high degree of uncertainty, steel declared in its weekly summary of the metal-working industry.

Government officials in charge of the program are openly doubtful of its effectiveness, the magazine continued, "and make no secret of the fact that they want compulsory allocations."

Steel said that despite discouraging factors some producers plan to establish second quarter consumer quotas within the next two weeks.

"These, of course, will be subject to later adjustment to conform with requirements of the voluntary allocation plan and European aid," the magazine added.

Present prospects, steel continued, are that quotas will be lighter because priority tonnage likely will be increased and because seasonal difficulties may enlarge producers' shipment arrearages.

Steel declared that although spot announcements of price increases continue, no general revision of prices was expected until industry wage negotiations are concluded.

Virus Type of Pneumonia

The battle against disease is never won. We no sooner get the best of one trouble-maker than another crops up to take its place as a threat to health and life. Today, with the help of penicillin and the sulfonamide drugs, we have all but licked the ordinary forms of pneumonia; but, while this victory was being won, a different type of pneumonia, known as virus pneumonia, has become increasingly prevalent.

Just why this disease has changed from an exceedingly rare to a fairly common affliction within the past ten years is not known, but the fact remains that it is constantly claiming more and more victims.

Virus pneumonia is a slow starter, so that frequently patients may be ill for from a week to ten days before the symptoms become severe enough to bring him to the doctor. It differs from ordinary pneumonia in that the number of white cells in the blood is reduced, and the pulse and breathing rates are low in relation to the fever.

In most cases, the disease is a mild one, but now and then severe attacks occur which may even prove fatal. It is generally agreed that virus pneumonia is catching and easily passed from one person to another. As the name implies, it is probably caused by a virus. However, the virus has not yet been isolated and identified.

As a general rule, it is not difficult to make a diagnosis of virus pneumonia. X-ray examination is, of course, helpful in the diagnosis. In addition, the symptoms are usually typical. There is fever, which may rise to 103 degrees; headache, and a general feeling of sickness. There is a dry cough, but the patient does not bring up large amounts of sputum as in ordinary pneumonia. On physical examination, rales or abnormal sounds during breathing are heard by the physician.

Insofar as treatment of this condition is concerned, unfortunately the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin do not seem to have any particular value. Hence, complete rest in bed, the giving of plenty of fluids, and keeping up the patient's strength with proper food, are about all the measures that are available. The physician will, of course, prescribe such preparations as are needed to aid in relieving the fever and cough.

Following an attack of virus pneumonia, weakness and easy tiring may persist for several months. Therefore, during convalescence, the patient should avoid overstrain and should "take things easy."

A great deal more study of this disease is necessary. Efforts must be made to find some type of preventive or curative injections.

Questions and Answers

A Reader: I have a friend who has a daughter of eighteen. Last year she was examined and told she has a spot on the right lung and should be in a sanitarium. Could she be treated at home?

Answer: I presume that your friend's daughter is suffering from tuberculosis. As a general rule, sanitarium treatment is better. However, in some instances, satisfactory care can be given at home.

SINGERS ARE AUNTS OF MARION WOMAN

The Smith Sisters of Columbus, known professionally as the "Ariel Ladies Sextet" back in the 90's in the prime of their singing career and who recently came out into the limelight of the nation's entertainment world, have a staunch admirer in their niece, Mrs. Wilfred Schweinfurth of 501 Cherry street.

Ranging in age from 74 to 84, the six sisters, Mrs. Jeannette Walker, the eldest, Mrs. Marguerite Alkire, Mrs. Gertrude Saint, Mrs. Emma Mason, Mrs. Grace McKinney and Miss Olive Smith, the youngest, are residing together again in Columbus after having been scattered in various parts of the United States for many years. The five who had been married are now widows.

The sisters are in New York City now, arriving there Saturday after leaving Columbus Friday by train, and are to be heard on the "We The People" broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System at 9 p. m. Tuesday.

Their Only Brother

Reared at Delaware, the sisters had only one brother, Homer H. Smith, who was Mrs. Schweinfurth's father.

Mrs. Schweinfurth, who visits with her aunts often at Columbus, was with them Thursday and Friday before they left for New York. She said they plan to remain in New York until the latter part of next week. While there, they are staying at the Belmont Plaza hotel. The six have visited Mrs. Schweinfurth here a number of times in the past.

Receiving fan mail from all parts of the country since having been rediscovered several weeks ago, Mrs. Schweinfurth said her aunts plan to, upon their return to their home in Columbus, divide the mail among them and answer each letter received.

Had 10-Year Career

Mrs. Schweinfurth said she can remember a little her aunts singing years ago, and remarked the thing she remembers the most of them are the bright dresses which they wore for their performances. They sang in lyceum and chautauqua engagements from 1892 to 1902, their public appearances in that time numbering approximately 1,700.

The six sisters have not done professional work since disbanding years ago, but do sing together at small gatherings and for their own entertainment, Mrs. Schweinfurth said.

Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

THE Dominions of India (Hindu) and Pakistan (Moslem) are resuming negotiations under auspices of the United Nations in an effort to settle their dangerous differences, after a warning in the security council by Philip J. Noel-Baker, British minister of state for commonwealth relations, that the alternative to agreement may be war.

"If war happens," declared the minister, "it may be the most terrible conflict in the history of mankind."

Now that's strong language, and you have to know the Indian subcontinent to get the full significance of such a prediction. Your correspondent, having spent much time in that oriental land with its population of 400,000,000 (million); can testify that Mr. Noel-Baker not only isn't drawing the long bow but that he could have stated the case in much stronger language without exaggeration. But let's take a look at the situation:

MACKENZIE

The immediate difficulty is the bloody quarrel over the princely state of Kashmir—one of the world's dream lands. When the two dominions were formed, the many ruling princes were given their choice of joining their states to either dominion or of remaining independent. The Maharajah of Kashmir, Sir Hari Singh, is a Hindu, while the great majority of his subjects are Moslems—a bad combination, since these two religions have been warring throughout the Indian peninsula for centuries.

THE MAHARAJAH TRIED to remain independent, but Moslem tribesmen from neighboring Pakistan territory invaded the state with fire and sword. Thereupon Sir Hari cast his lot provisionally with Hindu India and called for military help, which he received.

The result has been strife within the state, complicated by religious fanaticism which has filled that lovely land of flowers with nightmarish horror. Thus we find Noel-Baker telling the UN security council:

"This Kashmir business brought these governments (the dominions of Pakistan and India) very near to war. As long as the fighting goes on there is danger that the parties may drift into war."

Well, now, when we talk of such a war we aren't dealing with any ordinary conflict at arms. As the minister indicated, there would be communal strife. That would mean wild butchery and destruction which has marked religious battles for generations.

We had a preview of this when the dominions were first formed. Many Hindus found themselves living in Pakistan territory, while great numbers of Moslems were in similar straits in India. The communal slaughter in some cases was reminiscent of the dark ages.

BUT THE MOST APPALLING aspect of a general religious war on the peninsula would, as I see it, involve the 700,000 defenseless little villages which cover the length and breadth of that great land. No, I'm not making any mistake in my figure—it's seven hundred thousand and something like 90 per cent of the whole population dives in these villages.

In many places the hamlets lie so closely together along the plains that, viewed from an airplane, they look like ant hills which almost interlock. Perhaps you get a better picture of the situation when it is recalled that in the continental U.S. there are just over 10,000 incorporated places with a population under 1,000.

We don't need to go into detail. Visualize the meaning of communal warfare sweeping through these villages. This column would hate to be the one to record such a tragedy.

Moreover, we have the assurance of Noel-Baker that both dominions want to reach a settlement, and where there's a will there's a way.

CIO INDORSES WALLACE

FARMERS INSTITUTE TO OPEN THURSDAY

Annual New Bloomington Program To End Friday.

The annual farmers' institute will be held Thursday and Friday at the New Bloomington school, under the sponsorship of the New Bloomington P.-T. A. A ministerial show on Friday night will bring the institute to a close. Speakers will be Mrs. Byron Grimes of Delaware, Rev. Asa C. Mattern of Leipsic, Miss Mary Faye McMillan, Marion county home demonstration agent and Herschel E. Hecker of Mt. Gilead, soil conservationist.

Mr. and Mrs. Gomer Johnson are chairmen of the committee sponsoring the two-day meeting and Roy N. Lovett is president of the institute. The afternoon sessions will open at 1 p. m. and the evening programs at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded in the various farm and home economics displays.

Miss McMillan and Mr. Hecker will be in charge of the divided sessions on Friday afternoon. Miss McMillan will discuss "Kitchen Planning" and the men's topic will be "Soil Conservation".

More than 30 men of the community will take part in the minstrel show which will include specialties and chorus numbers.

HYDRAULIC PRESS MAY OFFER WORKERS $5 LOTS

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Jan. 26—Possibility of selling building lots in Mt. Gilead for only $5 to employees of the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Company was discussed this week by Warren R. Tucker, company vice president in charge of engineering and research.

If the company decides to take the action employees must guarantee that they will build homes Tucker stated in a speech before the Mt. Gilead Kiwanis club.

Pointing out the great need for homes here he said that of 265 shop employees of the company only 130 lived in Mt. Gilead or on a Mt. Gilead rural route. Of 172 office employees only 88 lived in the village he said.

Tucker pointed out many possible building sites for homes or small building projects and urged the village to provide additional building sites.

It took just one week for

10 Million excited Americans

to say, "This time it's Hudson!"

In one short week 10,000,000 people jammed showrooms to see the amazing, beautiful new Hudson—a new kind of motor car—only five feet from ground to top, but with more inside head room and roomier seats than in any other mass-produced car built today!

Hudson is the only American-built car you step down into when entering, not up on—yet it maintains road clearance.

Hudson's new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is the only motor-car construction that completely encircles you, even outside the rear wheels, with a rugged, box-steel foundation frame.

You ride within this frame—cradled between axles—not on top of the frame as in other cars. And as you ride, Hudson's combination of unique construction and comfort features gives you a sensation of snug safety and serene, smooth going unlike anything you've known before!

Meet the new Hudson—get all the facts about Hudson's all-new Super-Six engine, the power-packed Super-Eight engine, and Hudson's "Drive-Master" transmission that provides automatic gear shifting in forward speeds. Drop in at the nearest Hudson showroom. Find out why millions of Americans are exclaiming, "This time it's Hudson!"

Indians Thank White Brothers For Gifts of Clothing and Food

By The Associated Press

GOULDING'S POST, MONUMENT VALLEY, UTAH, Jan. 26—A thumbprint-signed letter, expressing in simple, moving language the gratitude of a "nation within a nation", came today from tribal leaders addressed to the thousands of generous Americans who in recent weeks have sent food and clothing for needy Navajo Indians.

"The Navajos want their names on a paper," the letter said, "to send thanks to our belacana (white) friends that heard about our hunger and cold and sent food and clothing from away off. It is very good with us. We will not forget this kindness."

The letter closed with a traditional blessing: "May you ride in beauty, may you live in beauty."

Beneath that parting wish a procession of blue inked thumbprints moved down the page like seals on an international treaty, each print the signature of a Navajo leader.

The signers, representative of more than 350 Indians who gathered here to dictate the letter to Trader Harry Goulding for translation into English, were: Tom Jones, Rachel Laughter, Sheep White's Wife, Atene Bitsuey, Hoskinnini Bitsuey, Yellow Man's Daughter, Hosteen White Horse, Hosteen Cly Bitsuey, Leon Bradley, Mary Goat's Granddaughter, Hosteen Blackwater's Wife, Sheep White, Denay Chief, Gray Whiskers Bidoney, Willie Wild Flowers, John Yazzie Cly's Sister, and Yellow Hair's Son-in-Law.

Isolated Region

Goulding, who occupies this "most isolated white habitation in America" amid the monolith-punctuated expanses of southeastern Utah, explained that each of the hundreds who congregated here to draft the message wanted to impress his thumbprint at the bottom, but were persuaded to let the signatures of the 17 leaders stand for all.

With direct and primitive metaphors the letter expressed hope that a permanent rehabilitation program for the 61,000 Navajos can be undertaken, "* * * so we Navajos will be strong and help ourselves. Then our friends will not have to worry about us being cold and hungry again."

The Navajos' thanks came in response to thousands of gifts from every corner of the nation which arrived at the reservation after reports were circulated to undernourished, disease-wracked and poorly-clothed tribesmen.

Goulding received 450 letters, containing just under $1,000 in small donations for him to convert into medical supplies, clothing and food. Nearly all expressed indignation and amazement at the Indians' plight and many contained copies of resolutions or letters to various congressmen asking new federal aid for the Navajos.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baumgras of Rochester, N. Y., for example, wrote "it is hard to believe there are people in our own country in such desperate need."

Churches Take Part

A church in Carlsbad, Calif., (population 1,300) sent Goulding 2,500 pounds of clean, usable clothing. From Morton, Minn., came another shipment collected by Cub Scouts. The Lodi, Calif., News-Sentinel collected more than $300 from its readers in a brief campaign.

But gifts reaching Goulding's post were but a drop in the total flood. Navajo Assistance, Inc., organized by Gallup, N. M., businessmen, reports that it received contributions from 43 states totaling $13,903.14 in cash and 271 truckloads of clothing and food. The Salt Lake City Deseret News collected food and clothing in 66 Utah cities to fill a truck caravan patterned after the "Friendship Train" for European relief.

Besides these unofficial responses, the American Red Cross made available $100,000 for emergency use, and the Navajo tribal council loaned some of its funds until a $500,000 congressional appropriation for relief could become effective Feb. 11.

James M. Stewart, general superintendent of the Navajo agency, said at Gallup last week relief contributions from private sources are still being received, but are no longer needed.

"Action of congress * * * at the special session has adequately answered the immediate needs of the Navajos this winter. * * *"

Danner Puts New Buick Models on Display

1948 BUICK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN IN ROADMASTER MODEL

Two new model 1948 Buicks, went on display at the Danner Buick Co. showrooms at 294 West Center street today. Both are Roadmasters, a four door sedan and a five-passenger convertible.

Buick's 1948 line of cars include 10 distinctively-styled models featuring "Dynaflow Drive," a unique new transmission embodying Buick's answer to "no-shift, clutchless" driving, and 30 other important engineering advances and improvements.

Harlow H. Curtice, Buick general manager and vice president of General Motors, said the changes engineered into the 1948 Buick cars are designed to produce "greater riding comfort, easier handling and an even more outstanding performance."

Curtice described Buick's Dynaflow Drive as "an infinitely variable transmission" which gives car owners a completely new conception of effortless driving "without the use of gears or the conventional clutch under normal driving conditions."

Buick's style-leading 1948 models, also will feature new colors, trim and trim styling, the new "controlled frequency" engine mountings to control vibration frequency, a new oil control ring to provide greater oil economy, a new oil filter to keep engine oil clean, new springs on series 40 and 50 cars, and a new, threespoke flexible steering wheel with semi-circular horn ring.

To Increase Production

Curtice said Buick hoped to exceed its output by 10 to 15 per cent in 1948.

The result of the new Buick "controlled frequency" engine mountings is to shield car occupants against tiring pulsations, cut road noise, make engine sensation almost imperceptible.

To further improve performance and oil economy, Buick has adopted as standard equipment a new piston ring set-up, introducing what is considered to be the first major application of the steel "Flex-Fit" oil control ring. There are now two compression rings, the Flex-Fit oil control ring, while the fourth ring is a modified form conventional oil ring to provide "quick-seating" characteristics.

There are four engine power ratings in the 1948 Buick cars. The 40 Special has a rating of 110 HP; 50 Super, 115 HP; the 70 Roadmaster with standard transmission 144 HP; and the 70 Roadmaster with Dynaflow transmission, 150 HP.

The front suspension system on Series 40 and 50 Buick cars is modified by the use of higher springs to provide increased ride clearance. On the 40 and 50 Series shock absorber valving is changed to improve ride and handling. There also are important changes in the electrical system.

Models Listed

The 1948 Series 50 and 70 Buicks carry model designation on front fenders above the side moldings. The new Buick steering wheel, leaving the upper half of the wheel entirely unobstructed, carries a newly-designed monogram bearing the series designation as well as a new semi-circular horn ring.

Here are the 1948 Buick models:

Series 70 Roadmaster, 129-inch wheelbase: six passenger, four-door sedan, available in regular trim and custom; six passenger two-door sedanet; six passenger convertible with hydraulically operated top, front seat and window controls; and six-passenger Estate Wagon.

Series 50 Super, 124-inch wheelbase; six passenger, four-door sedan; six passenger, two-door sedanet; six passenger convertible coupe with hydraulically operated front seat, top, and window controls; and six-passenger Estate Wagon.

Series 40 Special, 121-inch wheelbase: Six passenger, four-door sedan; six passenger, two-door sedanet.

The Snows Came

FRIDAY night the weatherman said Saturday would be fair in Ohio.

But Saturday morning the snow began to sift down from a leaden sky. The wind was from the east, the temperature was rising slowly from near zero and the barometer was falling. That's an ominous combination for Ohio in January, and the amateur weather prophets knew what was in store for us.

Up to now, Ohio has been fortunate in escaping the brunt of the season's ice and snow storms. But the weekend blizzard wiped out that inequity.

Incidentally, this is the second big storm of the year that has caught the weather bureau unawares. The prediction the day the big snow descended on New York City was for scattered snow flurries.

The weather bureau, which appears to be operated by efficient, conscientious men, says it is doing the best it can with the funds allocated it. Perhaps there'll always be an element of guesswork in forecasting, assuring a scapegoat to take the blame from those caught unprepared by storms.

The Plain-Spoken Guest

BERNARD BARUCH'S proposals to curb inflation have received praise on all sides.

Editorialists were almost unanimous in their acclaim. Economists spoke highly of them and the reaction in congress was favorable. The only trouble is, his advice probably will not be followed.

Cheap dollars balance the budget, whittle away the national debt and give businessmen profits that look more impressive on paper than they really are. But cheap dollars also pinch white-collar workers, pensioners, school teachers, firemen and policemen, and keep union workers chafing at the bit for another round of wage increases, to be followed by another.

Mr. Baruch's plan to keep up taxes, cut food prices and pay off the debt comprises a program that could generate for peacetime purposes the moral effort that served us so well in war. Instead, the tendency will be to follow the line of least resistance. The day after Mr. Baruch testified before congressmen, another congressional committee announced a bill to reduce taxes by $6,300,000,000.

This isn't the first time Mr. Baruch has made suggestions that were praised and politely pigeonholed. Later the nation wished it had followed his advice. He is like the guest who speaks up at a gay party, pointing out the likelihood of morning-after headaches. He is thanked for his solicitude, but beyond that no one pays him any heed—until the morning after.

Two Cents' Worth

THE UNIONS have no better friend in the senate than Oregon's Wayne Morse. So when he talked recently on wages before the CIO International Woodworkers of the Pacific Northwest he had a receptive audience, but it must have been surprised at what he said.

He challenged the unions' move for a third round of wage increases and dared them to prove that the last round, averaging 18½ cents, represented a net gain of more than two cents in purchasing power. So sensitive are prices today, Morse warned, that another round of increases wouldn't even add up to a net gain of 1 cent.

Union leaders know that in this era of large profits it is not difficult to win wage increases, because industry simply passes the added costs along to the consumer, that is, the wage-earner. But responsible union leaders also know that what Morse said is true.

Halting the inflationary spiral will require self-denial and unselfish action on the part of industry and labor alike. One or the other can upset the applecart. Pulling in tandem, they can bring wages and prices into their proper relationship.

Yes, We'll Have Less Baloney

THERE is talk of rationing meat this summer.

Steaks will be scarcer and more expensive than ever unless rationing is instituted, warns Senator Flanders of New Hampshire.

Consider what a farmer has to say about the meat situation. In a letter to his congressman, a Kansas hog farmer writes: "Meat is high, but to my knowledge I have never produced pork at less profit than I do today... The impending shortage of meat is due to one thing—the lack of visible profit in its present production. The livestock producer doesn't ask $25, $30 or $35 per hundred for his product; he just asks a profit for his labor. The present price of grain makes $30 hogs a fair price."

Meat rationing and price control would be dealing with effects, not causes. It would curtail production and would spur under-the-counter sales. The high prices and the shortage some predict are part of the general inflation and can't be cured separately.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Atheism Legal in Schools, But Not the Bible.

DR. NATHAN SCHACHNER has written, for the current issue of the American Jewish year book, a learned and interesting article entitled, "Church, State and Education," which shows what the law has been and is concerning religion in the schools of the various parts of the United States. While his summary of the history of this subject is of value, what he misses altogether is that atheism may be taught our children, but not the word of God, not the Bible, not the Psalms, not the Prophets, not the Apostles. Karl Marx is legal in the schools, but not Isaiah or St. Mark. They suffer from Biblical affiliation.

SOKOLSKY

For many, this is a very serious question. They say that religion has no place in the schools. But has anti-religion a place? The real difficulty is that the Catholics object to the St. James version of the Bible; the Protestants object to the Douai version; and the Jews object to both. But does anyone object to a materialistic, biologic interpretation of man's place in society; does anyone complain that his child is being bombarded with an amoral position that man is a product of his environment and that morals are a matter of superstition and social pressures?

In a word, all the talk of church and state has nothing to do with the fundamental question, which is, what is being done to offset and counteract their corruption by teachers who are atheists and who propagandize an atheistic conception of morals in the public schools?

This Feature Overlooked

Dr. Schachner's article does not deal with this at all. Unfortunately, most of those who discuss this question are too concerned with money for bus rides and too little with the need for God.

The Real Danger

The real danger is not that the public schools will become sectarian but that fastidious parents will not send their children to public school. An increasingly large number do send their children to private and Parochial schools. The independent (private) schools are not only for the rich and fashionable but for children whose parents object to a materialistic, amoral education. They want their children to learn not only about the amoeba but also about the beatitudes. It is a question of moral standards.

Unfortunately, while the attack is being made on religion—every kind of religion—with increasing force, the children of God are divided into quarreling sects who hate each other, denounce each other, discriminate against each other. They have forgotten that Christ taught.

"... This is My commandment: that ye love one another, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends ..."

And also, He said:

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, 'thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy.' But I say unto you, 'love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you ...'"

Few Pay Heed

But few of those, Christians some of them call themselves, pay heed to this counsel. They fret and fume over school lunches and who shall get them out of the taxpayer's money, but they do not worry about the poison that is daily being poured into the minds of their own children, poisons that have already produced an unmeasurable debasement of man in Europe and projects here a society that knows no better guide than the rule of reason and necessity, the passion of self-satisfaction and indulgence.

Isaiah cried out:

"Woe to the multitude of many waters!"
Which make a noise like the noise of the seas;
And to the rushing of nations,
That make a rushing like the rushing of mighty waters!"

This is not a problem for lawyers and doctors of philosophy. It is the obligation of every parent to protect his own child, to guard it, to nurture its spirit as well a its body, to make it as strong morally as physically. That obligation can be passed on to no one—surely not to the state. To the state, the child, as the person, is a statistical entity to be counted; to the parent, the child is the fulfillment of man's destiny as a moral being.

Who Said Inflation Our Biggest Problem.

Eleven families—56 persons in all—are occupying an eight-room house in Chattanooga.

They've solved the housing shortage. All they've got to worry about the tenant surplus.

It has its disadvantages. Still, there's one thing about it: Nobody's ever lonesome.

Seven persons to a room may be lucky, but it can't be very private.

Incidentally, the dwelling in question boasts no bathtub, thus working an additional hardship on its residents. Cleanliness proverbially is next to Godliness ... with them it's next to impossible.

Philosophers have been preaching for years that all men must learn to live together but, so far as I can determine, this is the nearest approach to date.

Scrap Supply To Increase

But Shortage Will Still Hamper Industry.

THE steel scrap shortage will be alleviated somewhat during 1948, according to authorities of the industry. Greater yields are expected from farms, auto junk yards and overseas sources, while other supply reservoirs, such as factories, shipyards and railroads, probably will match their 1947 yields.

While definite improvement is in sight, the shortage will remain a critical problem because the country's scrap reservoir has been drained to a dangerously low level, according to Edwin C. Barringer, executive secretary of the Institute of Scrap Iron & Steel, Inc. He urged that no efforts be spared "to release potential scrap locked up in government warehouses and remaining unsold overseas."

A United States Bureau of Mines survey shows 2,900,000 tons of scrap on hand in the yards of dealers and consumers, with the monthly needs of mills of foundries estimated at 2,000,000 tons.

Last year the industry provided 25,400,000 gross tons for consumption and 1,000,000 tons for consumer inventories, an increase of 5 per cent over 1942, the previous high year. The 1948 figure will have to be another 20 per cent higher if all needs are to be met.

Among the firms tapping the vast overseas supply of scrap is Bethlehem Steel Corp. which recently contracted with China for the purchase of 1,000,000 tons of battlefield scrap. A similar contract is being worked out with Belgium.

Russian Wheel-skis In Summertime

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW—Engineer G. A. Zevin has invented a pair of skis for summer.

The skis operate on wheels and can be used on dirt roads and fields as well as on hard surface thoroughfares. The inventor says he can travel from eight to nine miles an hour on them.

He explained their wheel construction, four whels to each ski, guarantees a "soft glide," and they "can now make skiing possible on the hottest days of summer."

The Costly Cold

The common cold annually costs the American people more than $1,000,000,000, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.'s chief statistician.

Americans suffer an average of two colds a year, meaning a $420,000,000 loss in wages and a $400,000,000 expenditure for treatment. Other losses, including reduced efficiency, bring the figure to a billion dollars. The average cold lasts five days, which means 1,500,000,0000 days of cold misery each year for Americans.

Prosperity is too apt to prevent us from examining our conduct; but adversity leads us to think properly of our state, and so is most beneficial to us.—Johnson.

The Emboldened Opposition

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON—The name of Herbert Hoover has overnight become the rallying cry of the opposition to the European recovery program. The senators and representatives now fighting ERP have never proposed defeating the bill altogether; from the reasonably moderate Senator Taft to the strikingly immoderate Senator Brooks, they have conceded that some sort of measure with the ERP label would have to pass. Former President Hoover's prescription, for transforming ERP into a limited charitable commitment, restricted in several crippling ways, was therefore made to the opposition's order.

There are good reasons to suspect that the ERP opposition had some advance knowledge of Hoover's letter to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. Some of his proposals closely resemble those in the Herter bill, put forward as a rival to ERP by the House leadership. Representative Christian Herter has allowed himself to be drawn into the House Republican chieftains' plan to dilute ERP to the danger point. And there has long been a close relationship between Hoover and Herter.

The real point of Hoover's letter, however, is not its origin. In the house, the opposition to ERP was already bold. In the senate, the combined prestige of Senator Vandenberg and Secretary of State Marshall had caused the opponents to adopt a kind of half-hearted guerrilla tactics. To be quite blunt about it, Senator Wherry, Senator Malone and the others gathering to fight the bill did not seem quite sure they were doing the respectable thing.

Hoover Adds Weight

Now they have Hoover's prestige to weigh against Marshall's and Vandenberg's. It has thrown over them a cloak of respectability, and given them immeasurably greater boldness and confidence.

It must be further noted that the position in Congress had sometime previously begun to deteriorate in an ominous manner. The opposition's great point of attack was the amount to be authorized for expenditure on the rebuilding of Europe. It was here that the main danger lay, and now lies.

At least a week before the Hoover letter, there was no secret about the opposition strategy for reducing the 6.8 billion dollar authorization for the first fifteen months of ERP. They hoped to cut the authorization to a maximum of 5 billion dollars in the Senate. They hoped to reduce this amount to somewhere around 4 billion dollars in the House. They expected the House-Senate conference to set a final, compromise authorization around 4.5 billions. And then, further cutting was to occur in the appropriations committees. Representative John Taber's House group was to allow 3.5 billions. Senator Styles Bridges' Senate committee was to provide 4.5 billions. And the Senate House conference was again to compromise on 4 billions.

It is significant that 4 billion dollars was precisely the sum named by Hoover as adequate and safe for the ERP authorization. Yet even before the Hoover letter, the Administration's own Congressional checkers had begun to admit sadly the possibility that the opposition would drive its program through. Hoover has simply greatly increased a threat that was already quite black and ominous enough. Furthermore, he has added the further threat of all kinds of restrictive amendments. Several of which he advocated.

In Bad Position

Altogether, it is time to admit that the position in Congress is very bad indeed. In may be inquired, of course, why such reductions in the amount of ERP, and limitations on its planning, will be so exceedingly grave. After all, most bills sent up to Congress receive a good deal of mauling, and the resulting compromise between legislative and executive branches generally results in some sort of workable statute.

In the present case, however, these rules do not apply. In the first place, the state department, being terrified of congress, began by offering the lowest possible estimate of the money needed for the job of shoring up the European ruins. Any much lower amount will produce a mere unfruitful relief program.

Secondly, there is another and far worse factor in the situation which the average senator or representative finds immensely difficult to understand or even imagine. The members of congress are working up to the vote on ERP with their eyes on the folks back home. But as a practical matter, a vote to reduce and cripple ERP will have approximately ten times as great a political effect on Paris, France, and Rome, Italy, as in Paris, Kentucky, and Rome, New York. Here in the United States ERP is one issue among many. Abroad, ERP is the final test of the dependability of the United States, as a leader and support in the great world contest with the Soviet Union. If we seem to be a broken reed, that contest will surely be lost on the political battleground of western Europe. And we shall seem broken reed indeed, if ERP is mangled as planned.

LARAMIE, Wyo. — Think today's speed limits are a bother? The speed limit in Yellowstone Park during 1916 was 20 miles an hour on good roads—if no team was closer than 200 yards. A Yellowstone highway association route book for 1916, now in the University of Wyoming archives, stipulates: "Speeds (in Yellowstone Park) must be limited to 12 miles per hour ascending and 10 miles per hour descending steep grades, and to 8 miles an hour when approaching sharp curves."

No House Thieves My Eye!

"West Sand Lake, N. Y.—The Sand Lake Society for Mutual Protection Against Horse Thieves reported no cases at its ninety-ninth annual meeting last night."—News item.

Well, the Sand Lake boys just don't know what's going on. No horse thieves! Why, gosh almighty, there never were so many around in the history of the country. They've merely lost their taste for horses and have branched out into every field and level of trade, industry and the larcenous arts.

Jumping jupiter juice, fellers! They are not in evidence than ever. They don't have the barny smell, chew Battle Axe or carry a rope. There's no hay on their shoulders. But they're horse thieves just the same, bolder, noisier and in more places.

The old-time horse thief stole nothing but your horse and buggy. Today he takes everything in sight, including your operator's license, eye teeth and the baby's toys. You just don't look for him where there is a horse any more. You find him in oil, meat, butter, eggs, clothing, automobiles, fuel, steel, copper, lumber, door knobs and whatnots. An old-time authentic horse thief had too many scruples to be seen with the creep.

The old-time horse thief loved a horse. His modern counterpart loves only a cut in the profits and a hand in public suffering. If he loved a horse he would train it to ride through hospitals and orphan asylums, trampling on the inmates and getting his percentage on the medicines and bandages used to treat them. The horse is not his favorite animal. He inclines more to the woodpussy, the prairie dog and the laughing hyena.

The horse thief of yesterday was more or less ostracized and never received in the best company. The horse thief of today moves in the best circles, is entertained in the higher penthouses, blusters around the head tables at many public events, is saluted at all big sports events and glorified in newspaper columns.

Yesterday the horse thief was hanged if caught. Today he is photographed for the newsreels and press, interviewed on the radio, defended by the best lawyers and finally granted complete discharge by some high court on the ground he didn't know what he was doing.

* * *

No horse thieves? Sand Lakers, who's kidding whom?

The Broadway Bugle and Banner

Kyle MacDonnell is just about the purtiest girl in a placid way to hit the town in years... John Garfield makes "Skipper Next to God" mighty exciting.... Ed Wynn, wowing 'em as Nicky Blair's, says, "You may never have heard of me; I'm Keenan Wynn's father."... Sid Caesar is a great funmaker in "Make Mine Manhattan," but he works too hard.... You don't have to knock yourself out, bud.... The theme song of radio's "Walking Man" should be "Shoe-Shine Baby."... "Power Without Glory" is giving audiences the creeps.

President Truman received over 1,000 gifts from citizens last year. Most of them were books. Things like, "The Drums of the Fore and Aft," "The Ike and I," "Forever Pauley," "Inside Harold Stassen" and "Henry the Great."

Second on the list of presents to the President was fruit. The oranges were nice, but the grapes of wrath from Henry Wallace were not so hot.

It might be interesting if Senator Glenn Taylor decided to run for the Vice Presidency. The people have never had a chance so far to see what a horse could do for them in public office.

Br'er MacFadden

By TRUMAN TWILL

Someone with a nasty sense of humor has sent us a newspaper clipping showing Bernarr Macfadden leaping about like a jackrabbit at the age of 80. The story says he's going to run for governor of Florida on a four-point program of political health, physical health, mental health and spiritual health.

His daily routine continues to be the same despite his age. He jumps out of bed at the crack of dawn, snaps through a set of body breaking exercises, goes for a blood-tingling swim, takes a gallop to keep his wind in shape, whams his way around a golf course, beats the daylights out of a tennis ball, breezes out a couple dozen letters, radio broadcasts, magazine articles and speeches he is going to make, then stays up half the night dancing if he's in the mood—and still feels fine. That's what the story says.

In between, he has time to do the scheming that has made him one of the most successful operators in his special field of publishing, to fly an airplane, pose for the innumerable pictures that have made him one of the best-known men in the world, swing dumbbells—and tackle the ticklish art of politics.

But—for the benefit of the person who sent the clipping—it leaves the writer of this comment cold. What does Macfadden get out of it except the publicity? What good does it do him? What good does it do anybody? This will give you 10 to 1 that he was sick and tired of it years ago and keeps it up only because his public expects him to. Any man who says he likes to jump out of bed and throw himself about like a crazy at the crack of dawn is either soft in the head or an incurable fudger—and no one has accused Brother Bernard of being soft in the head.

Not only does his reputation for being a human mountain goat leave us cold—it's frightening. No one can calculate how much harm he has done by this kind of publicity. The fact is human beings never were intended to behave like mountain goats. Nature designed humans to take things easy, beginning at the age of 20. By 30 they should be slowed to a walk. By 80 they should be acting their age. The fact probably is that Bernarr Macfadden is just as old as anybody else but keeps trying to give the impression that there's something wrong with people who don't do what he says he does.

If he really does it—which is doubtful—there's something wrong with him, something serious. All of us normal persons shouldn't waste another minute getting him up north where he will be like his age plus another 80 for good measure in his case. If someone will fetch a footstool, there will be enough worrying for one day about Bernarr Macfadden.

Plan To Rebuild French Village

Associated Press Newsfeatures

HAMBURG—The German youth magazine Benjamin has applied to British and French authorities for permission to organize a group of young Germans to help rebuild the French village of Oradour during their summer holidays next year.

The village was destroyed by the S.S. on June 10, 1944, as a reprisal against the French resistance fighters.

The paper said the young Germans did not regard themselves as guilty of this and other acts of cruelty because of their youth. "But we want to break completely with the past and to live in peace with men all over the world," it said. "We ask the French government to permit us to help rebuild Oradour. Anybody who wishes to help us will be welcome."

N.Y.C. Passenger Leaves Tracks in Michigan

By The Associated Press

TRENTON, Mich., Jan. 26—The last two cars of the New York Central's Detroit-to-Miami "Sunbeam Special" train left the tracks here about midnight Sunday but 25 passengers escaped unhurt.

NYC officials blamed a broken rail for the accident, which shook up the passengers and threw some from their berths. All seven cars in the train remained upright.

Railroad men said the derailment would have been much more serioous if the train had not stopped at Wyandotte, Mich., only a couple minutes earlier. It was just started to pick up speed.

STASSEN

Douglas MacArthur, before the people.

Stassen therefore appears determined upon a head-on test between Taft's policies and his own which he has described as steering a "liberal course in the Republican party."

Along with his announcement that he will enter the Ohio race, the Minnesotan said he will not "consent to the filing" of a slate of delegates in New York in opposition to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Stassen noted that delegates there may run unpledged and said other primaries will test his differences with the New Yorker.

Stassen also asserted that he will not consent to a full slate in Ohio. Specifically, he turned thumbs down on delegates filing in Cincinnati, Taft's home town, or in opposition to Ohio Republican organization officials or governor.

Taft Calls It Error

He said there must not be "any attack upon Senator Taft or upon the Ohio Republican organization but rather a "constructive presentation of the important issues represented by my position on foreign and domestic policy for the Republican party."

Taft greeted Stassen's announcement with this comment:

"I believe that Mr. Stassen has made a great mistake from his own standpoint in filing in Ohio contrary to the usual practice among those interested in maintaining Republican party harmony.

"Of course, he has every legal right to enter the primary, but if a primary battleground must be chosen, I am delighted he has selected Ohio, where he has no chance of success."

Taft previously had indicated he would not enter any primaries outside of Ohio, but his backers made plain they will put up a fight in Nebraska.

Taft already has arranged for a Feb. 13 speech in Omaha as one of several on the western swing next month, but he is expected to leave the management of his campaign in that state to Senator Hugh Butler.

GALION FIRE THREATENS TRAIN DISPATCHER TOWER

Special to The Star

GALION—It took firemen nearly two hours, in six above zero weather to extinguish a blaze at 8:45 a. m., Sunday, at Burt Tower, located near the intersection of New York Central and Erie railroads, east of South Market street.

A defective chimney, was believed to have caused the fire. The frame building stands about ten feet off the ground and is held up on steel braces.

The fire burned back of the stove, burning through partitions up into the attic. A small hole had to be cut in the roof in order to reach the blaze. Damage will amount to several hundred dollars.

Joe Coughlin, of Galion, employed by the Erie railroad company, was in the tower at the time of the blaze. He handles the dispatching of trains by both Erie and Big Four railroads. Operations were not disrupted by the fire.

8 WEEKEND TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS REPORTED

2 Persons Slightly Injured in Collision on Route 231.

Eight traffic accidents occurred over the weekend in Marion and vicinity resulting in slight injury to two persons.

Two cars, one driven by Edward Murphy of Morral and the other driven by Harold Smith of near Morral, collided on route 231 at 8 p. m. Sunday, the state highway patrol reports. William Murphy of Morral and Mary Radel of 432 South Grand avenue, Marion, passengers in the Murphy car, received minor injuries in the collision.

Collide at Intersection

Cars driven by William E. Schmelzer of 440 Olney avenue and Russell Schoffner of 193 Waterloo street, collided at the intersection of State and Columbia streets at 10 a. m. Saturday, city police report.

At 1:04 a. m. on Saturday James Myers of near Marion, driving his car on East Center street, ran into a parked car owned by John Moore of 805 East Center street when he became temporarily blinded by the lights of an approaching car. Considerable damage was done to both cars.

Floyd Geiger of 449 East Farming street, driving a car owned by the Jack Johnson Motor Co., struck a parked car belonging to R. M. Kelley of 310 Silver street at 10:35 a. m. Saturday night.

Cars driven by Harmon Peart of New Bloomington, and Mary Carnell of 909 West Fairground street collided on East Center street at 11:39 a. m. Saturday when Peart was trying to drive his car away from the curb, police report.

Saturday at 6 p. m. cars driven by Merril Chase of near Marion and J. E. Jenner of 334 North Greenwood street collided at the intersection of Church and Main street. Chase's car was the only one damaged in the collision.

Cars driven by Glenn Somers of 144 Garden street and Ellyn Patton of 703 West Sheridan, Chicago, Ill., collided at the intersection of East Center and Grand when Patton's car skidded on the ice and sideswiped Somer's car which was stopped for the light police report.

In the only automobile accident reported this morning, a Safety Cab driven by Claude Persinger of 901 Cheney avenue and a car driven by Emerson Klinefelter of near Cardington, collided on Bellefontaine avenue when the cars slid on the icy street.

Stalled Car Hit By Train at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION—Ice and severe cold weather were blamed on an accident, Saturday at 3:40 p. m., when a car driven by Eugene Hurst of Clymer avenue, Galion, stalled on the South Boston street railroad crossing and was hit by a Big Four passenger train. Hurst who was driving the car owned by Henry Rule of Mansfield, said he tried to push the car off the tracks but was unable to move it. The right front end of the car was damaged, and a side of the coach of the train was slightly damaged.

The passenger train, No. 111, was westbound.

SUITOR JAILED FOR ABDUCTING GIRL

By The Associated Press

MERRILL, Mich., Jan. 26—A 20-year-old spurned suitor accused of breaking into his ex-fiancee's home and abducting her on a 300-mile car ride before she talked him out of driving her further was held in the Saginaw county jail today.

Assistant Prosecutor Henry Naegeley said he would seek warrants charging the youth, William Mayers, with both kidnaping and breaking and entering.

Pretty, quick-thinking Joan Peloquin, 17, was returned safely to her parents' home here Sunday afternoon, 16 hours after sheriff's officers said she was forced by Mayers to leave with him as she dressed for a date with another man.

Mayers, whose engagement to the girl was broken off a year ago, was arrested a few minutes later as he drove toward nearby Saginaw to give himself up after dropping Miss Peloquin off at her home.

Officers credited the slim beauty operator with talking Mayers out of his intent of abducting her to Chicago.

Holt Honored At Reception

500 Attend Program Given as Tribute to School Superintendent.

Approximately 500 persons attended a public reception honoring E. E. Holt, superintendent of the Marion public schools here for the last seven and one-half years, yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church. Mr. and Mrs. Holt will leave this week for Springfield, where Mr. Holt will take over his duties as superintendent of the schools in that city.

Mrs. Harry T. Williams, organist, presided for a half hour of music preceding the program, which opened with a group of selections by the Harding High school a cappella chair under the direction of L. G. Jones, supervisor of music in the public schools. The numbers included "Almighty God of Our Fathers," James, "A Dream Within a Dream," Cross and "Keep Your Lamps Trimmed," by Noble Cain.

Record Praised

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the church, paid tribute to Mr. Holt for his fine management of the public schools, his wholehearted and sincere participation in religious and civic affairs of Marion and his upstanding character as a citizen. In responding Supt. Holt expressed regret at leaving Marion and Marion friends, and declared that he found friendliness to be one of the outstanding characteristics of Marion. Speaking for the city, Mayor Dowler echoed Rev. Olewiler's tribute to Mr. Holt, praising his work as a school head and also in civic affairs.

The program closed with a choral benediction by the school choir, "Lord Bless You and Keep You," Lulkin and the benediction by Rev. Olewiler.

Gifts Presented

Mayor Dowler, on behalf of the service clubs, presented Supt. Holt with a wrist watch. At the morning church service in the First Presbyterian church David J. Isely presented Mr. Holt with a pen and pencil set, a gift from the Men's Brotherhood, of which he is a member.

Rev. Olewiler presided for the public reception which was sponsored by the Inter-Club Council made up of representatives of the Exchange club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, Y's Men's and Altrusa clubs. Robert W. Sollinger is president of the council.

BOWLING SCORES

Johnson of the Lord's team made high series in All-Star league bowling Wednesday night at the Marion Rec with a 588, while Metz for Dugan's had high single with 237. Eleven other keglers in the All-Star league, aside from Metz, also went over 200.

High single and series totals were grabbed by Rife of the Lathes' team on Wednesday with 223 and 545 respectively, to top all other Osgood Affiliated bowlers at the Marion Rec. W. Maag of the Machine Tool team, however, was not far behind in series as he hit 544.

Ed Cheney was highest in a single game in the Business Men's league, out of seven men who rolled over the 200 mark with a 224.

NLRB AT MT. GILEAD FOR LABOR HEARING

Special to The Star

GALION, Jan. 26—An informal hearing held Friday at the courthouse in Mt. Gilead investigated a petition filed with the NLRB by the Independent Workers Union of the Mt. Gilead plant of the North Electric Manufacturing company. The petition asks for an election at that plant to determine a bargaining agent for the workers.

Matters discussed at the Mt. Gilead hearing included an objection by Lowell Goerlich, Toledo, UAW counsel, who said it was the opinion of the UAW-CIO that the local union was not an "independent" union at Mt. Gilead. Whether the group of workers to be represented by a union would be production, non-production, maintenance employes, or other workers; and other technical questions were discussed also.

Present for the hearing were: David C. Finlay, NLRB field examiner; Edward J. Myers, Bucyrus attorney for the Independent Workers Union; four representatives of the IWU at the Mt. Gilead plant; Thomas Kinney, international representative of the UAW-CIO, and member of the CIO who were employes at the Mt. Gilead plant; J. H. Baldwin, consultant of the Labor Relations Institute of New York City, retained by the North Company; Fred Burkholder, Cleveland, and Harold Burns, company attorneys, and Alan Ryon, personnel director of the Galion plant.

Both company and union representatives denied that the United Auto Workers (CIO) union would agree to a "consent" election to determine the bargaining agent for workers at the North Electric Manufacturing Company, here, when reached for comment, Friday, following the hearing in Mt. Gilead.

"It is purely a rumor," Thomas Kinney, of the UAW-CIO, said, when he was asked if the union was going to consent to an election.

A company spokesman said that the UAW-CIO will not consent to a consent election, taking the same stand as it did when the NLRB sent its field examiner to Galion, Dec. 18. At the same time, the NLRB conducted a fact-finding investigation regarding the claim of the UAW-CIO that it had a majority of workers signed up at Galion.

The company spokesman said that until charges filed by the UAW-CIO with the NLRB, alleging unfair labor practices by the North company and that the Independent Workers Union is a company dominated union, have been disposed of that a formal hearing to determine union representation will not likely be heard.

It's Ahead for Palestine

ext Few Months Will Fix Fate of UN Partition Plan

This is the first of a series of articles by Max Harrelson, ociated Press diplomatic reporter and ex-war correspondent, o has covered the Palestine story in world capitals for the last ade. He was covering the Colonial Office in London when the itish issued the White Paper of 1939 and he witnessed its re-rcussions on Europe in the early days of the recent war. After ning the war as an American army captain, he joined the ociated Press staff covering the United Nations at Lake Suc-s and in New York and followed every step leading to the v. 29 1947, resolution adopted by the General Assembly to par-tition the Holy Land.

By MAX HARRELSON

he United Nations soon will the first of a series of tests ch will indicate success or ure of the plan to partition estine.

ften the General Assembly ad-pted last Nov. 29 after adopt-the partition plan, it left a gerint for a new Palestine. Im-mentation of the plan was left 1948.

The current strife in the Holy d was foreseen by Arabs, Jews British and by most of those who supported the plan to carve Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish countries.

Max Harrelson

When the Assembly acted, it had before it a warning from the UN Special Committees on Palestine (UNSCOP) that "enforcement measures on an extensive scale may be necessary for some time."

The big questions to be answered in 1948 are: How far will the strife go? Will Britain adhere to the transition timetable set by the UN? Can the Arabs be forced to cooperate? Will the UN take adequate enforcement measures?

The two new countries are scheduled to become sovereign independent nations by Oct. 1, but much must be done before then. British evacuation must be completed, provisional governments established, security forces set up and an economic union formed to insure a stable economy in the Holy Land.

So far only a few steps have been taken.

The five-nation UN commission which will help set up the new regimes was called together for its first planning sessions, starting Jan. 9 at Lake Success.

A six-nation sub-committee of the trusteeship council has begun work on a provisional statute for Jerusalem to be administered by the council as an international zone outside the new Jewish and Arab countries.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine has been planning for the provisional government of the new Jewish nation and for increased immigration as provided by the partition plan.

And Britain has announced it would terminate its 25-year-old League of Nations mandate by May 15 and would complete withdrawal from the Holy Land by Aug. 1.

The Arab Threat

Meanwhile, the Arabs have made no move to set up a provisional government or to help form the proposed economic union. On the contrary, they have promised a struggle to the end against the partition plan.

This raises the vital question: How can the UN enforce partition? The program approved by the Assembly made no provisions for enforcement, despite warnings that force would be needed to put partition into effect.

This is certain to be a major issue before the UN.

Top UN officials agree that as long as the Palestine mandate remains in effect Britain will be responsible for maintaining order. But once the British pull out there is nothing to prevent UN intervention.

Question of Force

Under the UN charter the Security Council can use force if the Palestine situation threatens international peace.

The Council's big problem will be to determine what forces should be used.

At present, there is no UN military force. The council might set up a provisional force for Palestine or it might call upon individual nations to send troops to the Holy Land.

If the council should fail to act, then the "Little Assembly" undoubtedly would take up the problem and recommend a special session of the full Assembly. The UN already has taken steps to retain the temporary Assembly chamber at Flushing Meadow Park, New York, for such an emergency meeting.

Balfour Declaration Favored Jewish Home

The Balfour Declaration of Nov. 2, 1917, totals 67 words.

Many millions of words have been uttered and much blood has been shed over interpreation of those 67 words.

The words are credited to Arthur James Balfour, then British foreign secretary, and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, Zionist pioneer and celebrated chemist.

The declaration was drafted in 1917. It said:

"His Majesty's government view with favour the establishment in Palestine of National Home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavours to facilitate the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine, or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country."

Champion Milk Cow Gets Her Beer Daily

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 26—Bridge Birch, a beer-drinking Friesian cow, is the world's biggest milk producer, her owner says.

R. A. Pierson, of Moortown Farm, Ringwood, said that on a diet including a half gallon of stout a day, Bridge Birch gave 41,952 pounds of milk for 329 days ended last night. Pierson said the record for 365 days, held by an American Holstein Friesian, was 41,943.

SOIL SERVICE IN RECORD YEAR

Conservation Chief Reports 20 Million Acres Treated in 1947.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 A new record of completing conservation treatment on more than 20 million acres despite lack of personnel for giving adequate assistance to all farmer-operated soil conservation districts requesting it during the 1947 fiscal year was reported today by Chief H. H. Bennett of the Soil Conservation Service.

In his annual report to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson the soil conservation chief pointed out that both 1945 and 1946 were years of record accomplishment, but that in 1947 service technicians assisted farmers in putting "more than twice as much conservation work on the land as during 1945 and increased the 1946 record by more than 25 per cent." That included some 127,000 farm plans that covered about 36 million acres, in addition to soil conservation practices which were spread to thousands of neighboring farms and ranches.

Based on Research

Dr. Bennett explained that the conservation operations recommended by the Soil Conservation Service are based on 16 years of intensive scientific research and 14 years of farmer experience with measures tried and proved on more than half a million of the nation's farms.

The report showed that the 126,970 conservation farm plans prepared in the 1946-1947 year by farmers and service technicians brought to 516,115 the plans in soil conservation districts alone, covering 142,074,155 acres, of which 70,272,575 have been treated.

Among individual conservation treatments listed as applied in districts to June 30 were more than 13 million acres of contour cultivation; more than 442,000 miles of terracing; more than 5 million acres of cover crops; more than 15 million acres of stubble-mulch farming; 35½ million acres of proper range stocking, plus about 5,800,000 acres of range and pasture seeding; 78,000 farm and ranch ponds built; more than 1,800,000 acres of farm drainage completed; and more than 4,800,000 acres of woodland improvement.

Emphasizes Economy

Dr. Bennett emphasized the economy and profitableness of this soil conservation work; a service cost of only $1.63 an acre for complete soil conservation surveys, planning and land treatment in 1947, with the farmers themselves bearing the principal expense over a series of years. He cited reports from the records of typical farmers and ranchers showing that soil conservation had increased their per acre income $4.90 on the average.

Dr. Bennett cautioned, "that the high production of recent years was made at the expense of the land in many areas where efficient soil conservation work had not been done. Land damage of this kind is still continuing."

KILLED BY AUTO

By The Associated Press

GEORGETOWN, O., Jan. 26—T. Boone Montgomery, 70, of nearby Russellville, was injured fatally last night when struck by an automobile on state route 125, near here. The state highway patrol reported David Young, 32, of Bethel, O., alleged driver of the car, was held for questioning but no charges had been filed.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MR. "K." must have been standing just outside the outer door of our apartment, for Dicky's four short raps no sooner had sounded on the door than from the other side came the signaling knocks upon which we all had agreed earlier.

"Right on the job," my husband commented as he opened the door the length of the night chain.

"Observe, ladies!" he tossed back to Mary and Katharine with a grin, "that I take my own medicine. Be sure you take yours as carefully."

"Don't bother what passes for your brain about us!" Katharine said, and a glance at Mary told me the cause for my kinswoman's flippancy. Mary was looking at her uncle and me with fear as well as love in her eyes, which I saw held tears almost ready to overflow.

But I dared do nothing save blow her a kiss and give her a loving smile. Dicky had undone the night chain, and was pulling back the door. Then we were passing through it, and even as Dicky closed it, I saw Katharine rise and come toward it. That she was putting up the night chain. I knew as well as if I had seen her do it, and in the knowledge of her wisdom and resourcefulness, I smothered my worry over Faith's safety.

"Nothing possibly can happen with Katrina on the job, those guards outside and the windows all barred," Dicky whispered reassuringly. "And I'll be back here shortly."

Then he spoke aloud to Mr. "K." who had waited courteously until Dicky had finished murmuring to me.

"Did we keep you waiting?" he asked.

"Yes," the FBI man told him with a grin. "Almost two seconds."

"It was the woman who gave me the apple." Dicky told him with an answering grin, and then we were walking swiftly toward the stairs, and up to the Veritzen's apartment.

When we reached the corridor, the two guards were at the head of the stairs as our footsteps sounded on the treads, and relaxed perceptibly at the sight of us. Then, after the signaling knocks, and the loosening of the night chain, we were again inside, and on into the library. Phillo put me into a chair, while Olga came toward me from behind her beautifully appointed tea-table.

"I poured the boiling water on the leaves when I heard you knock, for which I had been waiting," she said. "I am sure we shall all be the better for a cup of tea."

"Oh, Olga!" I said gratefully. "That will be wonderful."

"Your adjective is weak," Dicky said, looking reproachfully at me, "not adequate at all. You should have said 'colossal,' 'stupendous,' also—"

"We know you know a lot of words," I told him flippantly.

"There's a loving wife for you!" Dicky threw up both arms. "And when I remember the chances I've had to swap her for two horseshoes and a bag of marbles, I could weep!"

"Weep into your tea," Olga told him, laughing.

Then she took off her tea cozy, and lifting the lid, looked into the teapot.

"It's ready!" she said. "Come on over, Dicky and Mr. 'K.', for your cups. Philip, if you'll serve Madge."

When Philip placed my cup and saucer on the little table which someone already had set beside my chair he also set down a small plate of biscuits, canapes and little cakes. I knew Olga's swift deftness, and also the housewifery which always guarantees "emergency rations" for every occasion, but I marveled anew at the ease and speed with which she had prepared our "tea," and guessed that she had pressed her impresario husband into service.

For the next ten minutes, so potent and skillful is Olga's charm, that I think even Mr. "K." threw off the anxiety and responsibility of the problems confronting us.

Then Mr. "K." glanced surreptitiously at his first watch, and Dicky cocked an inquiring eyebrow at him.

"Time to go?" he asked.

Cold Storage Locker!
JUST WHAT ARE THE ADVANTAGES TO YOU?

Food, and its proper preservation, has always been one of man's greatest problems—how to preserve it in times of plenty, for use in times of scarcity. Drying, Canning, Smoking, Pickling have been used—but now foodstuffs can be held in quantity in their natural fresh state over long periods of time. The Refrigerated Locker System is the answer, and a few of its many advantages to you are listed below.

NO SEASONS—"Seasons" for certain foodstuffs are eliminated. Butcher and store your food in summer or winter. Have juicy fresh steaks in mid-summer—have sweet corn or strawberries on your table in mid-winter.

LESS WORK—Tiresome home smoking, pickling and canning, or preserving can be eliminated, and sweating hours over the stove, and the labor and drudgery of such work can be forgotten.

CONSERVES MEAT SUPPLIES—Chilling and freezing facilities in locker plants make slaughtering feasible whenever the animal or poultry is ready, thus making it unnecessary to wait for so-called "butchering" weather. It also makes for the better utilization of the carcass through meat cutting by an experienced meat cutter.

CONVENIENCE—Think how convenient it will be to go to your own Locker and find just what you want, ready to cook or to eat—and when ever you want it. Also to know that it is under your own lock and key—in your "Personal Food Vault."

SPOILAGE—Eliminates the danger of spoilage which often results: When you attempt to keep too much fresh meat on hand, or the improper chilling of farm dressed animals, such as sour hams and sour round of beef.

SAVINGS—Even with these many services rendered for you—and the many advantages—there is a definite saving in dollars—depending of course upon the size of your family and your rate of consumption.

Memoirs of Cordell Hull

affairs. I kept him thoroughly informed on all major developments, but he expected me to furnish the initiative in policy and action. Beginning with his second term, his interest and participaton in foreign affairs greatly augmented.

Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge about the world abroad was extensive. No president since Jefferson and the Adamses had a wider knowledge of peoples and conditions abroad. Though he sometimes tended to commit us too far in his direct approaches to the heads of other governments, and to forget the diplomatic implications of his military decisions, his viewpoint toward the world was progressive and forward-looking.

He was a man of great personal charm who could always make himself agreeable and attractive in conversation, and this was helpful to us in dealing with statesmen and diplomatic representatives of foreign governments. He was a rare judge of psychology and was always able to get over to the public most effectively any message or appeal. In this respect he had, in my opinion, no equal among his predecessors except Theodore Roosevelt. He was at his best in proclaiming to the world in highly dramatized form great slogans and principles such as the Four Freedoms. His wide knowledge of persons, together with his energy and good judgment as a rule, highly equipped him for leadership.

THE PRESIDENT, with rare exceptions, could scarcely have been more considerate toward me as secretary of state throughout my 12 years in that office. He almost invariably approved by recommendations or suggestions, which often included important foreign policy. With the exception of his conferences with Mr. Churchill and Marshal Stalin, which he regarded as being primarily military, he virtually always sought my advice or concurrence before taking an important step in foreign relations. He looked to me on innumerable occasions to provide the substance of his addresses on foreign affairs or to compose his messages and replies to Churchill, Stalin, and other heads of governments.

Harry Hopkins remarked to me on one occasion that a person might serve President Roosevelt for almost any length of time and the President would never thank him. But Hopkins continued that Mr. Roosevelt was, in fact, grateful for all that such persons had done for him. I replied that my relations with him had always been free from personalities and without a short word, and I added that on numerous occasions he spoke with entire appreciation in referring to given phases of my work.

Almost invariably, when either the President or I returned from a trip, as well as fairly often between times, he sent word to me inviting me to come over to his office for luncheon, so that we could talk over questions and conditions undisturbed.

If it were at all warm he said, "Let's make ourselves comfortable." He took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves, unbuttoned and opened his collar. I did the same.

LUNCHEON WAS BROUGHT in (no drinks were served) and placed on his great desk in the oval office that already had so many associations for me. It was in that room that I first saw President Wilson, and later, Presidents Coolidge and Hoover.

Our conversation was informal. The President usually had a good story to tell that he had just heard. Then, for about an hour, we could talk over the problems that faced us. Invariably we were alone. Interruptions were infrequent, although occasionally the President would answer the telephone if an important caller were on the line.

In conversation he was always considerate. When we sometimes differed on important questions, he never showed impatience as I argued the opposite side. He listened attentively through to the end, without interrupting. Each of us in due time learned to omit elaborate argument where one of us knew that the other, after full opportunity for consideration, entertained definite convictions.

Our conversation dealt almost entirely with foreign affairs, but I did not hesitate from time to time to express myself in a general way on domestic affairs as well. On several occasions I spoke something like this:

"From my youth on I've studied liberal teachers such as Locke, Milton, Pitt, Burke and Gladstone on to the Lloyd George school. I 'followed through' under the liberal leadership of Woodrow Wilson. In congress I had a labor record between 90 to 100 per cent, chiefly on progressive legislation. Still I can't help but feel that you're going too fast and too far with certain of your domestic reforms. There hasn't been sufficient time to adjust them to conditions in the country. The people haven't had time to digest them. I think that periodically the country needs time to accustom itself to some of these drastic, new policies. And, in a few instances, the policies themselves seem too drastic."

I ALSO MADE IT clear to him that I was not in harmony with a permanent policy of government spending, having always stood for a fixed policy of balanced budgets based on progressive and practical policies on which suitable national progress in all essential respects could be soundly based.

The President always heard me through with entire respect. Then he continued eating or smoking, without saying anything. After a few seconds of silence he or I mentioned something else and the conversation veered in another direction.

IN STEEL FIGHT. Preston Tucker, fledgling auto manufacturer of Chicago, announces he will "fight to the last ditch with Republic Steel Corp. over purchase of a government-owned blast furnace and coke plant, both in Cleveland, which Republic now is operating on a rental basis. Tucker, reportedly high bidder in the WAA sale, told a Washington press conference that he is being 'shoved around' by "big steel and auto lobbies."

FACTION CAMPAIGNS FOR PRINTERS' PEACE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26—The International Typographical Union's Independent party is campaigning on a platform of no "further chaos, expensive litigation (and) unnecessary strikes."

Charles D. Tucker, of Indianapolis, the faction's president, outlined the party's program yesterday for a meeting of Ohio ITU members.

"The Independent party candidates, if elected, will not lead you into further chaos, expensive litigation, unnecessary strikes and will exhaust every effort to be at peace with other printing trade unions, rather than antagonize them," he said.

Incumbent Woodruff Randolph, head of the ITU's other party—the Progressives, was accused by Tucker of being a "dictator."

"The membership is so confused, so uncertain, so full of fear that they are afraid to speak out," Tucker asserted. "I warn you now, we can not long survive under dictatorship. Just how long are you going to remain a servant of the executive council? How long are you going to follow the mandates, decrees and edicts of Dictator Randolph?"

Tucker pledged "economic and democratic government" of party candidates elected, and promised a "concerted militant fight" against the Taft-Hartley law. Tucker, himself, is not running for reelection.

He also read Reese J. Highfield, secretary-treasurer of the Akron, O., local, out of the party, accusing him of "treason to the union" by his recent testimony in Chicago concerning the strike there.

"I have this day removed Mr. Highfield from the roster of the Independent party," Tucker said. "This action becomes necessary because of Mr. Highfield's recent actions in Chicago."

Dr. and Mrs. Brown Entertain Bible Class

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Brown of 249 Blaine avenue entertained the Women's Bible class of Wesley Methodist church Thursday night at their home. A hymn by the group, devotions by Mrs. O. W. McElhaney, chaplain, and prayer by Mrs. Effie McCrery opened the meeting for which Mrs. Cora Damude presided.

Readings were given by Mrs. Bertha McGinnis, Mrs. Ida Orr Mrs. John Monk and Mrs. C. G. Roberts and two piano numbers were played by Gene Green. Completing the musical program were a vocal duet by Junior Colle and Francis Beckley and a vocal number by Junior Colle accompanied by Francis Beckley on the guitar. Mrs. Fred Upton was in charge of the program which closed with a prayer by Dr. Brown, pastor. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. McGinnis.

It was not until 1600 A.D. that Galileo demonstrated that air has weight.

Letters from Our Readers

CHURCH COOPERATION URGED

Editor of The Star: Is it unethical from the denominational standpoint for one denomination to announce at a meeting of united denominations, "We have a world renowned figure speaking in one of our churches this week on world problems?" Or even to send to other churches such an announcement to be made on Sunday morning?

Monday evening's paper carried an announcement that Sherwood Eddy would speak here last week, and meetings were listed as luncheons, dinners or meetings of specific groups. Now I had heard Sherwood Eddy a good many years ago, and I felt that I could not miss him.

I thought an announcement might be made at the assembly of the School of Religion Monday night, explaining how one might attend one of these meetings—and also urging upon those unfamiliar with his name, the importance of hearing so great a man. But he was not mentioned. In Tuesday evening's paper, I could find no mention of the meetings. I contacted a member of Wesley Methodist church and asked how I could gain access to the dinner meeting at her church Wednesday night. She assured me that Dr. Eddy was not speaking at a dinner meeting, but at 7:30 at an open meeting. I had already engaged a "baby sitter" Monday night before learning how I was to get in to one of the meetings.

I would not be writing this had there been a good audience to hear Dr. Eddy. When it heard him in Cleveland, he spoke to a group that no two auditoriums in Marion could hold. Yes, that was in Cleveland. But surely outside of the several specific groups that Dr. and Mrs. Eddy addressed (I trust there were capacity audiences) there must have been more than 75 who would have been interested in hearing him. I believe with proper advertising, the auditorium would have been filled to standing room only. It is a shame for so great a man to waste his time addressing a handful in one town, when he could just as well be influencing the thinking of a thousand at the same moment It is even a greater shame that so many people of our city missed the information and inspiration he had to give.

There was an excellent write-up in the paper Wednesday night. It doubtless made many people wish to hear him. It also told of the open meeting at Wesley church, but by the time most people got around to reading it, the meeting was doubtless already started.

Are the churches afraid to advertise outstanding speakers from fear of proselyting?

A year ago, Dr. Ruskin of Washington, D. C., spoke in Marion. He said he found it necessary to limit his mid-week prayer meeting to 200 in order to keep the close fellowship of a prayer meeting. Yet he made the trip all the way from Washington, D. C., to Marion to speak to a half-filled auditorium,—of probably less than 200 people.

Can't we have more cooperation between the denominations? To have full support, the churches would need advance notices so that they might keep the dates clear of minor meetings. These speakers must be engaged by long range planning. Could not our church calendars be made up to include these dates?

May I be presumptious enough to ask that you please see to it that the board of directors of your church has a copy of this letter. thank you.

OLIVE H. CHASE,
183 E. Mark street.

LEARN OF DEATH

BUCYRUS — John Carroll, Bucyrus safety director, and Mrs. Franklin Roelle received word Saturday of the death of their aunt, Miss Helen Nellie Carroll at Ft. Wayne, Ind. Miss Carroll had visited in Bucyrus on many occasions and was known here. Burial will be made in Ft. Wayne.

There is evidence that the outdoor mean temperature in cities increases as the population increases.

OVER the weekend millionaire Ed Pauley spattered from the hot seat in the senate probe of grain speculators right smack into baseball's Hot Stove league. . . . The yarn currently sizzling is that Ed will buy Phil Wrigley's top farm club, the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast league, then buy Dick Muckerman's St. Louis Browns and head west. . . . Oilman Ed, now the bull of the baseball exchange, probably got some "inside" dope that the Brown stock was pretty low. . . . It couldn't get much lower; such baseball talent as the Browns did have was squandered away for money during the last couple of months.

When it comes to commodities, Ed Pauley sure knows his R's. He took the R out of grain and look what he got—a million bucks. But the chances are about a bushel of wheat to a biscuit that he can't squeeze another million out of the Brown gold mine. It takes longer to grow a ball club than a crop. . . . And now Harold Stassen will have to give him the needle with a baseball bat.

In getting out of the government and into a St. Louis baseball club, Ed will follow the trend set by ex-Postmaster General Bob Hannegan, who bought into the Cards. . . . The Republicans wish there was another ball club left in Missouri so another Democrat could go home

IN KNOCKING OFF Morral, 36-34, Saturday night, the Pleasant Township cagers won undisputed first place in the 1948 county league race, finishing their 11-game league schedule undefeated, and scoring 574 points to their opponents' 293. . . . Melvin Bernow, coach of the champs, figures that after this year, he's had it. Four of his starting five, Charles Mayers, Jack Merchant, Dick Green and Ron Gorby, are seniors. Only man who will return next year is forward Randy Dickason.

The two non-league games remaining on Pleasant's schedule, Marion St. Mary (Feb. 3) and Richwood (Feb. 10), will give the champs an opportunity to see how they stack up with some of the basketball opposition they're likely to face in the class B district tournament in March. . . . Both opponents are in the Mid-State league. . . . In other non-league frays, Pleasant has lost to Edison and Cardington.

Ohio Colleges Prepare For 34-Game Schedule

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26—Ohio colleges have a thrill-packed 34-game schedule on tap this week, 17 encounters with out-of-state foes and eight Ohio conference frays featuring the set.

Capital, leading the state-wide list with seven wins in eight starts (the loss was a 59-58 single-pointer to Muskingum) sees action only once, meeting Ashland Saturday night. Kent State, out front in the Ohio conference race, has a non-league affair on with Rio Grande tonight, and then risks its loop lead, and may lose it, Wednesday to Mount Union.

Wittenberg, with the most unusual scoring record of the age, tangles Saturday with Heidelberg. The Springfield Lutherans, in winning one of four conference games, have scored 244 points, the exact total counted by the opposition. And in winning three of eight contests for the season, the Clark countians have amassed 464 points, against the same total garnered by the foe.

FLORIDA TENNIS CHAMP

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 26—Second-seeded Richard Gonzales of Los Angeles is the men's singles champion of Florida. He defeated sixth-seeded Enrique Buse of Rollins College 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 in the finals of the twenty-first annual Florida tennis tourney here yesterday. Shirley Fry, Akron, O., coed of Rollins triumphed in the women's division finals over Madga Rurac of Romania 6-3, 6-3.

International Olympic Committee Says Swiss Must Ban AHA from Winter Games

By The Associated Press

ST. MORITZ, SWITZERLAND, Jan. 26—A usually reliable informant said today members of the International Olympic committee had told the Swiss they must ban the United States Amateur Hockey Association team from the winter games.

The A. H. A. squad has been recognized by the Swiss organizi- representatives in the games—as representatives in the games—an action strongly protested by the U. S. Olympic committee, which has entered its own team.

If the A. H. A. is barred, indications are the International Hockey Federation may order all its teams out of the competition.

This would be a hard blow to the box office-conscious Swiss since hockey is the big money sport of the games. Some 60,000 fans are counted on to watch the semifinals and finals.

The Swiss have put new pressure on the Americans to reach a compromise but apparently to no avail.

"There is no sense in talking compromise," declared J. Lyman Bingham, an official of the U. S. Olympic delegation. "We can't make new rules now."

The informant who described the action of I. O. C. members said it was his understanding that the upshot of the hockey controversy will be banning of both the A. H. A. and U. S. Olympic teams from the competition.

The executive committee of the I. C. O. meets Jan. 27-28 and the full committee meeting will be held Jan. 29, just one day before launching of the fifth winter games at this alpine resort.

SPORTS ROUNDUP
by Hugh S. Fullerton jr

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—One of the oddities in the coaching profession is that Howie Odell left Yale for Washington because the west offered him greater opportunities just a few months after Howard Hobson had moved from Oregon to Yale because the east offered greater opportunities . . . So far Hobson hasn't had any reason to be discouraged at what he's found in the east, though he admits the Ivy league doesn't turn up as many big boys (6-6 and over, that is) as the west coast . . . One big difference, he says, is that most eastern schools don't start basketball until November and don't have spring practice. And that they use many football players who aren't available until late fall . . . Hobson, of course, inherited a lad named Tony Lavelli who draws rave notices from everyone who sees him. "I'd say Lavelli is a greater shot than Hank Luisetti, particularly on the type of shot he uses," Hobbie enthuses. "He has primarily a hook shot and we have added the one-handed shot to his list so that he is getting more scoring opportunities. He normally will hit between 35 and 40 per cent."

WHEN THE CHICAGO Baseball writers had a dinner recently, Zach Taylor, new manager of the St. Louis Browns, came up from Florida on a train that was 12½ hours late . . . He walked into the gathering just as the show was breaking up . . . One of the scribes immediately remarked: "Here come the Browns—last again."

Galion Tigers Drop Lima Central, 54-43

GALION, Jan. 26 — Galion Tigers staged a comeback Saturday night and played stellar basketball to defeat the Lima Central cagers, 54-43, before a small crowd of weather-braving fans at the Junior High gym. The Tigers had been unable to click the night before against a strong Norwalk team.

The Saturday night tilt saw freshman Ray Self toss in ten field goals to total 20 points. His teammate Gerald Thatcher was second high point man of the game with 14 points made on seven field goals.

In the preliminary, Lima Central Jayvees won an easy victory, 46-22, over the Galion Junior Varsity.

Ed McKeever, New Rocket Coach, Says He's Highest Paid Mentor in Pro Football

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 — Youthful Ed McKeever, who has coached football at five different schools in a dozen years, declared today that his three-year contract as the new skipper of the Chicago Rockets "makes me the highest paid coach in professional football."

"What is more," he beamed, 'the money covering the three years is in the bank."

McKeever's statement, made in San Francisco, indicates he will be drawing upwards of $25,000 per season and probably more from the Rockets' new backers, who so far have not been revealed.

When Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns signed a contract during the war it called for an announced $25,000 base salary and was thought to be about tops among the pros. What other cut, if any, McKeever will get in addition to his pay, is unknown. Brown received an estimated $90,000 in salary, bonuses and retainers during his two years with the champions of the All-America conference.

McKeever, a 37-year-old Texas Tech graduate, resigned from the University of San Francisco to become the third pilot of the hapless Rockets, a financial bust in their two years of operation.

The well-heeled syndicate trying to fan the Rockets back to life with greenbacks is expected to be disclosed before the All-America conference, which now holds the franchise, convenes for its annual winter meeting in Chicago, Feb. 14. The go-between in dealings thus far has been R. E. (Slats) Garn, Chicago bond broker acting for the league.

Garn as well as McKeever had contract talks with Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack, but the All-America quarterback, voted the athlete of the year, Saturday signed with the Chicago Bears for about $18,000-$20,000 per season and a $5,000 bonus.

Wave of Releases Wash Oldtimers Out of Baseball

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Look for a new deal in baseball during 1948!

The Yankees and Dodgers did so well with young players—until they met in the World Series—that nearly every major league team is weeding out the old timers and bringing in young blood.

Since the close of the big league races many established stars have either been released outright or dropped quietly from the playing rosters.

Chief among those dropped from the active list is Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants. Ott has put in 22 seasons as a player with the Giants and has retired to the bench at 38 years of age. He did all his major league playing with the Giants, hit 511 home runs and has a lifetime batting average of .304. Otty led the National League in home runs six times but during the last two seasons he belted only one.

Another home run slugger who may have played his last big league game is Hank Greenberg who batted .251 this year for the Pittsburgh Pirates and hit 25 home runs. In 11 seasons with the Detroit Tigers he hit 306 round trippers.

Hank Is Expensive

Hank is a bit expensive, the Pirates felt, and was released with no strings attached. He will be 37 on New Year's day at which time he plans to make up his mind whether he will play major league ball in 1948.

Greenberg has had a brilliant career as a first baseman and an outfielder. Four times he toped the American league in hitting homers and in 1938 he collected 58, two less than Babe Ruth's all-time record. He was the league's most valuable player on two occasions. His lifetime batting average was a glistening .319 at the start of 1947 and still stands at a very respectable .313.

Of the veteran stars being cut adrift it seems difficult to realize that the St. Louis Cardinals have released Joe Medwick. Although 39, Medwick batted .308 while participating in 75 games for the Cards this year. His lifetime average for 13 years in the National league is .323, a figure that no other 10-year man in the senior circuit tops today.

Only three years ago Medwick hit .337 for the Giants and in 1937 his .374 for the Red Birds topped both leagues.

Lombardi Feels Ax

Other National League stars released have been Catcher Ernie Lombardi, 39, by the Giants, and Third Baseman Stan Hack, 38, by the Chicago Cubs. Removed from the playing lists are Shortstop Bill Jurges by the Cubs, after 17 years in the league, and Second Baseman Billie Herman, 38, who resigned as manager of the Pirates after one season.

Lombardi, twice league batting champ, has an average of .306 after 17 years in the big time; Herman is one point lower after 15 seasons and Hack, who played all 16 seasons of big league ball with the Cubs, goes out with a .297 mark. Jurges was well below these stars in hitting but was a shortstop during his younger years.

The Phillies have released a 13-year veteran in Shortstop Lamar (Skeeter) Newsome, 36, whose place will be fought over by a pair of promising rookies, Ralph Lapointe and Jack Albright. The former has the inside track, having hit .308 in 56 games during the last third of the recent campaign.

3 Pitchers Cast Aside

Three National League pitchers in their late thirties also have been released. They are Bill Lee, 38, and Claude Passeau, 36, of the Cubs, and Truett (Rip) Sewell, 39, of the Pirates.

Passeau a 12-year veteran, is best remembered for the near perfect World Series game he pitched against the Detroit Tigers in 1945. He allowed but one single and a walk to win 3-0. A double play wiped out the walk so that Passeau faced only 28 batters, one over the minimum.

Lee saw 14 big league seasons while Sewell, whose famous "Blooper Ball" won 21 games for the Pirates in 1943 and again the following year, was with the Buccaneers 10 seasons and spent part of a campaign with Detroit when he was 24.

MORROW COUNTY CAGE TOURNEY PLANS CHANGED

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Jan 26 — A change in plans for the 1948 Morrow county basketball tournament was announced this week following a meeting of county superintendent of schools. According to plans worked out by the group games played on the first night will be played on three different floors.

Two teams, those finishing first and second during league play, will be seeded in the drawing. The first place team will be given the number one spot in the upper bracket and the second place team will draw the number five spot in the lower bracket.

On the opening night of the tournament, Feb. 20, the top two teams in the upper bracket will play at Iberia. Number three and number four teams will meet at Cardington; while the number six teams in the lower bracket will meet at Edison. The team getting the number seven spot draws a first round bye.

On the second night of the tournament, Feb. 21, the winners of the games at the Iberia and Cardington will meet on the Edison floor while the winner of the game at Edison will meet the team which drew the first round bye on the Iberia floor.

Thereafter all games in the tournament will be played at Iberia. Other tournament dates set are Feb. 24, 27 and 28.

LAST-SECOND GOALS WIN GAMES IN GRA-Y LEAGUE

Last-second baskets won two games in the grade school league basketball play at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday, but the others were heavily one-sided.

Mickey Alex sent in a fielder in the closing seconds to bring Oak Street a 23-21 win over Mark, and Stoffel dropped in a basket to give Oakland a 16-15 win over Greenwood as the game ended.

In other games in the Gra-Y league, Glenwood trounced Forest Lawn, 47-12; St. Mary blasted Silver street, 58-4; and North Main sunk Olney, 25-4.

Mike Anderson scored 26 points and Dan Merchant 18 for St. Mary, but the afternoon's top scorer was Starks of Glenwood, who meshed 30.

GIL DODDS WANTS TO RUN LONGER RACE

Says There's Too Much Competition in 1,500-Meter.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Jan. 26—In mid-season form and apparently suffering from a dearth of competent opposition, mile champion Gil Dodds, the Boston A.A.'s invincible "Flying Parson," is eager to attempt longer distances to improve his Olympic chances.

He has hopes of wearing the U. S. Olympic shield in the 5000-meters event next summer and figures he could prime himself best for that by engaging in two and three mile races during the indoor season. Europe has too many faster 1500-meter stars.

But major promoters appear unwilling to co-operate. Since the mile is the feature of their track programs, Dodds has been overwhelmed with pleas to stick to his specialty.

"If Gil ever gets a chance to try two-miles in fast company, he'll break Greg Rice's five-year old 8:51 mark in his first start," boasts Jack Ryder, Dodds' veteran coach. "Only a week ago, he ran that distance in 9.06 in sub-freezing temperature on an outdoor track. But, apparently, I'm the only one who wants to see him run two-miles."

Dodds opened his 1948 campaign by winning the O'Reilly memorial mile in last Saturday's Knights of Columbus met here in 4:08.4, the fastest time ever turned in anywhere so early in the season.

It was the "Flying Parson's" 29th straight victory since 1943, when he was beaten outdoors by Gunder Haegg and Bill Hulse.

That outstanding performance earned Dodds the Fitzgerald award for the second straight year. Fourteen track experts gave him 41 points while balloting for the meet's outstanding athlete.

Locke Wins Phoenix Open by One Stroke

By The Associated Press

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan 26—South Africa's Bobby Locke ran into as stiff a golfing test as any he has faced in winning the Phoenix open yesterday, but his brilliant recoveries and cool headed playing earned him a one-stroke victory over smiling Jim Demaret.

The visitor from Johannesburg went around the 6,578-yard Phoenix Country Club course in 268 for the $2,000 first prize money.

Pleasant Wins County League Title By Downing Morral, 36-34, for 11th Victory

Pleasant Township's high-scoring cagers took their eleventh straight county league win and the league championship Saturday night, but they were hard pressed to defeat a tough Morral quintet, 36-34, on the Morral court.

Morral held the lead until the third quarter when Pleasant rallied to send in a 15-point barrage. Morral couldn't catch up in the final frame and went down two points for their second loss of the season.

Dick Granlee paced the losers with 11 points, but Merle Hilborn, Jim Weston, and Dick Baer all netted six or more.

The Pleasant scoring was also well divided, Charles Mayers and Dick Green dropped in 10 each and Jack Merchant made eight.

Mayers, currently high scorer in the league, finished out the loop season with 214 points in 11 games. His nearest competitor Caledonia's Kenneth Comstock has 185 and two games to go.

LaRue Cagers Lose To Marseilles, 57-38

Marseilles High's cagers defeated LaRue's basketball team on the LaRue court Saturday night by a 57-38 count. Center Carsell for the Marseilles quintet was a little too hot to be stopped as he paced his team with 23 points, while Brocklesby led his team with 12 points for high honors. LaRue's Jayvees made a partial success of the night's activities for LaRue, winning a close one, 28-27.

On Tuesday LaRue will oppose Prospect on the LaRue court, the game to start at 7:30.

Tulane May Give Kentucky a Race In S. E. C. Loop

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—The sudden possibility that Kentucky might not even win the Southeastern Conference championship, let alone a national title rocked the basketball world today which otherwise is in a lull brought on by mid-year examinations.

For years it has been a routine matter to pencil in Kentucky as the S.E.C. champ in pre-season prognostications, and then wait confidently for the prophesy to come true. It always did.

But today Tulane, generally a basketball nobody, produced a record virtually equal to that of Adolph Rupp's "Kaintucks." Tulane has won 15 and lost only to N.Y.U. Kentucky has won 17 and lost only to Temple.

The Tulane rise is part of a deliberate campaign for the New Orleans school to climb out of the doldrums. It hired coach Clyde Wells from an Indiana high school three years ago and gave him the scholarship-generated green light to produce.

With three Indiana-Red ballplayers in his starting lineup, Wells has the team ready for a showdown with Kentucky. That will come in March when the annual tournament which decides the conference champion is staged in Louisville.

Meanwhile, Tulane is off this week and Kentucky plays DePaul Saturday on the regular schedule.

LINE COACH STEPS UP AT SAN FRANCISCO

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26—The University of San Francisco, which has had four football coaches in the last five years, entrusted its 1948 grid destiny today to 32-year-old Joe Kuharich, ex-Norte Dame and professional star.

He was promoted from line coach to head man yesterday by the athletic board and telephoned his acceptance from Pittsburgh. He is expected here in a few days to sign a one-year contract for an announced salary.

Kuharich succeeds Ed McKeever, who resigned Saturday and yesterday signed a three-year contract to coach the professional Chicago Rockets.

New York Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Selected stocks eaged toward recovery in today's market although many leaders failed to get anywhere.

Devaluation of the French franc and possibility the pound sterling would follow suit helped strengthen gold mining shares, the same as in London, but most other sections of the list were not particularly responsive.

Dealings slowed after a moderately active opening but fractional advances predominated near midday

Up 1 to 2 points or so were Homestake Mining, McIntyre Porcupine and Dome Mines. Modest improvement was scored for Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Illinois Central, U.S. Steel, Woolworth, J. I. Case, Lowe's, United Air Lines, Union Carbide, Dupont, American Smelting and American Telephone. Laggards most of the time were General Motors, Columbia Gas, Electric Power & Light, Johns-Manville, Air Reduction, Gulf Oil and Pacific Western Oil.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS BID FOR SEWER CONSTRUCTION

Sealed bids for the construction of sewers in Bennett Street from Clinton Street to Flss Avenue and in Flss Avenue from Bennett Street south to the Columbia Street Storm Sewer will be received by the Safety-Service Director of The City of Marion, Ohio, at his office in the City Building, until 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time on the 5th day of February, 1948, and at that time and place will be publicly opened and read.

The work for which bids are invited consists of furnishing the material and doing the work necessary for the construction of approximately 8550 ft. of 6" to 15" diameter vitrified shale pipe sewers, together with manholes, repaving and other appurtenant work

Copies of the advertisement, information for bidders, estimated quantities, contract, specifications and performance bond are on file in the office of the City Engineer and available for inspection by prospective bidders.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a certified check on a solvent bank in the sum of $500 00 made payable to the order of the Safety-Service Director, of the City of Marion, Ohio, as a guarantee that if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured The check shall be forfeited if the said bidder fails to enter into a contract with the city of Marion, Ohio, and to furnish the required bond within fifteen days after notice of acceptance of his bid Bidders are required to use the printed forms which will be furnished upon application.

Bids for labor and material must be separate and sealed in envelopes plainly marked "Bids for Bennett Street and Flss Avenue Sewers."

A performance bond of 50% of the amount of contract, with a satisfactory corporate surety, will be required for the faithful performance of the work.

Should any bid be rejected, the accompanying check will be returned to the bidder forthwith and, should any bid be accepted, the check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

The right is reserved by the City of Marion, Ohio, to reject any or all bids.

Edw. O. Uncapher,
Safety-Service Director.

Bradley Believes Russia Would Use Bomb on U. S.

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Jan. 26—Gen Omar Bradley, the next army chief of staff, said here that, "if Russia had the atomic bomb I don't believe they would hesitate to use it on us"

In an interview Friday night, he also said, "I don t think she could—or would—fight now if she could help it.

"I don't think there will be war 'now' unless some country blunders into it"

But he said he would not apply his remarks about Russia not wanting war with us now "to the

Hospital Devises Way To Retain Its Nurses

By The United Press

ATLANTA, Ga — It used to be that when maternity nurses at Crawford W. Long hospital here became mothers themselves, they quit professional nursing.

Not any more. The hospital has opened a "nursery for nurses' children" as a lure to old hands who are needed to open two floors in the hospital's new maternity center.

The advantages, according to the hospital, work both ways. First, it gives the mother nurse an opportunity to make a little extra money while at the same time being assured that her child is receiving the best of attention. And, second, it helps train novice nurses by giving them a chance to care for babies who are in the best of health.

From seven in the morning until seven at night, student nurses care for babies of graduate nurses Instead of having to finish their training at nursery hospitals outside the hospital, student nurses now can learn about healthy babies without leaving the building.
